VFW carnival now going on at Recreation Park

Clear skies and warm weather for last night's inaugural session of the annual VFW festival bodes well for the success of this five-day affair, going on this week at Arlington Recreation park.

Special entertainment is on the docket each evening, and it will be climaxed Sunday afternoon with the parade and drum and bugle corps contest that has become well known in the area. The parade will begin at 2 p.m., forming at the high school, and will conclude at the park, where the contest will take place.

More than a dozen highly skilled units will participate, with the Commonwealth Edison post of the American Legion—the post that is said to have won so many prizes it no longer competes—giving a concert.

All residents of Arlington Heights and nearby towns are invited to share in the fun of the festival. There'll be games and rides to interest all age groups, and food aplenty, the latter prepared and served by the members of the Women's auxiliary of the post.

Tonight's entertainment will feature local talent, the barbershop quartet chorus, led by J. D. Bryson.

On Friday evening the entertainment will be provided by a skating act, Jean and Burt Petersen, and on Saturday by Chase and Parks, outstanding trampoline artists. Stage shows will begin at 7:30 each evening. Admission to the grounds and to the shows is free at all times.

Helping Commander Dave Heineman, chairman of the festival, are Robert Koeppen, Laurin Marschmann, William Heffren, George Svetanoff, Walter Jepp, John Duthorn, George Hauff, Sylvester Greschner, Harold Luettschwager, and Mrs. June Nebel, president of the auxiliary.

Arlington man killed by hit-run driver Sunday

Albert Wenzel, 67, 913 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights, died at St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, Sunday evening a short time after a hit-and-run driver hit the bicycle he was riding.

The accident occurred about 7:45 p. m. at Northwest highway and Euclid, Arlington Hts. The injury resulting in death was a basal fracture. Police could find only one witness to the accident. He was Solomon Benton, 1939 Maple av., Evanston. He was interviewed by Chief Skoog and Officer Johnson at his home the following morning.

Benton said that he was traveling west on Euclid ave. and had stopped for the intersection sign. He saw a dark colored car, probably a Plymouth, strike the bicycle and throw its rider to the pavement. The car after slowing down, immediately started up before Benton could get the license number. Benton is employed in construction work for Art Jacobs.

The Evanston man asked Fred Glueckert to call the police. The Oehler ambulance took Mr. Wenzel to St. Joseph's hospital where he died 75 minutes later.

Mr. Wenzel had been a musician almost all of his life. He was a member of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, playing at Orchestra Hall, the Civil Opera and at summer concerts in Ravinia.

For a time he taught violin in Arlington Heights. His usual concert instruments were the bassoon and viola. Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel had been visiting his sister, Stella Findley, LaPorte, Minn. Mrs. Wenzel had decided to remain there a short time longer and he came home to Arlington Heights. He had been spending several hours at the Louis Clark's and was on his way home when the accident happened.

Albert Wenzel was born in Chicago February 20, 1884, and married Miss Augusta Schulenburg of Arlington Heights, October 3, 1910. Seventeen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel came to Arlington. He had given up regular concert work several years ago and at the time of his death was acting as a night watchman at the Grigsby-Allison plant.

There remain his wife, two daughter, Ruth Pingel, Mansfield, Ohio; and Bernice Bates, Arlington Heights; a son, Howard Wenzel, Algonquin; two sisters, Laura Wenzel, Chicago, and Stella Findley, LaPorte, Minn.

There are five grandchildren, one of whom is Donald Bates, a junior in Arlington Heights high school and a member of the Aeronautics club.

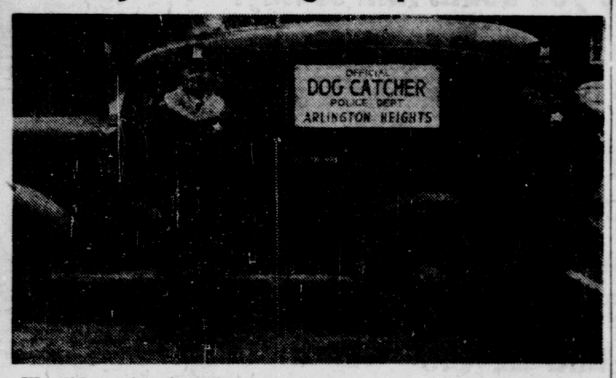

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home with interment in St. John cemetery.

One way to end dog complaints

—Skoog photo

We did not inquire what owners of dogs in Arlington Heights think about the dog catching method of solving the local dog problem, but complaints to police have dropped to almost nil since the dog catcher's wagon began visiting the town.

Anyway, neighbors of dog owners are happy. More and more dogs are being "walked" by their owners and between 20 and 25 of them have been turned over to the Orphans of the Storm.

In the month previous to the start of the service, the police department received 156 dog complaints and reports of three dog bites. Now it is practically zero.

THE SERVICE is not on the racket basis. The dog catching firm is paid by the month, not by the catches. When dogs with tags are taken into custody, the owners are notified. They are required to put up a $5 cash bond. Judge Neumann is charging $3 for first offense and $5 thereafter.

Owners of dogs without 1951 tags are required to purchase this year's license in addition to paying the fine.

As soon as the races are ended three officers will make a house to house canvass, checking on vehicle tags and dog tags.

The dog catching team shown in the above picture, also serves River Grove, Bensenville, Des Plaines and Park Ridge. It is their custom to divide a day between Des Plaines and Arlington. There can be no tip-off as to when they are coming because the men are "on their own."

Mt. Prospect is making an effort to have the dog catching team return to that town. Chief Whittenberg says that his office is flooded with dog complaints. Three persons have been bitten.

Arlington A&P Super Market reopens with many improvements Tuesday

The A&P Super Market at 114 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, destroyed by fire several months ago, will reopen at 9 a. m. next Tuesday, it was announced today by J. P. Smith, vice president in charge of the company's operations in this area.

The disastrous fire, which broke out early one morning last February, was one of the worst of the year here. Arlington Heights has been without an A&P store in the interim

When the completely remodeled and improved A&P opens Tuesday morning, it will feature many added conveniences.

The "personal service" meat department will be a real attraction and will be staffed with trained, skilled butchers.

A new refrigerated produce section will be to the liking of all with a yen for fresh fruits and vegetables. The cooling system has been designed to retain all the natural freshness, crispness and nutritional value of fresh fruits and vegetables, many of which will be purchased from farms in the vicinity of Arlington Heights.

"Our refrigerating system," said Mr. Smith, "is part of our store-wide freshness control program by which we zealously protect all perishable products and are thereby able to determine freshness in all items."

The dairy department, also self-service, will stock approximately two hundred different items. Illinois farms also are important A&P dairy suppliers. For instance, last year the 93-year-old food firm purchased butter worth $2,159,149 from Illinois buttermakers and their patron farmers.

A real A&P Super market, it will have one of the company's famous coffee departments. During 1950, A&P's three famous brands of coffee (Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar) comprised one out of every six cups served in the United States. The firm is the largest importer of coffee in the world. Coffee sold at the new Arlington Heights store will be roasted at the firm's Chicago roasting plant. Frequent deliveries will be made here to insure maximum freshness of America's favorite "morning pick-up."

Other departments include frozen foods, dried fruits and nuts, candy, poultry and fish. In addition, there will be five rows of shelves running the full length of the store that will be devoted to dry groceries.

FIVE REGULAR checkout stands will assure fast-flowing traffic in the elaborate Suoer Market. Each will be staffed by a checker and packer. An express checkout stand has been installed for the fast passage of those with only a few purchases.

The Super Market will remain open Friday evenings until nine o'clock. Regular hours on other days will be 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

PRIZES ARE TO BE given during opening week. These include Cory coffeemakers and many grocery orders.

John Andrews, formerly manager at the A&P store at Barrington, will be in charge of the new Arlington Heights food mart. Assisting him will be Ray Leavitt. Meat department head will be Floyd Hartrick, a familiar face at the local A&P store before the fire. In charge of the produce section will be Winston Edwards. Others will be Vera Krezan and Erick Nelson, dairy department; Edward Kosta and Robert Felker, stock department; Richard Kloepher and Melvin Hoaniman, produce: Earl Parks, Horace Languth, John Kohl and Ray Hoth, meat: Esther Schwantz, Emma Peterson, Marjorie Suftin, Ralph R. Held, and William Ebeling, checkers; and Leslie Inglis, Thomas Anderson, Edward Niemeyer, Paul Schaefer and Victor DiPiero.

$50 bond required for failure to report accident

W. L. Calhone, arrested by Arlington Heights police for failure to report an accident on S. Dunton st. when his car struck 12-year-old Patricia Angeloff, has been required to post a $50 bond.

He will be held to trial next Tuesday for failure to have a driver's license.

NO NEW POLIO HERE

No new cases of polio have been reported this week in the northwest suburbs.

The Karl family of Mt. Prospect are all home from the hospital, and the Palatine patients are reported improving.

Two cases were, however, reported this week in Morton Grove and Glenview. Both patients are at Evanston hospital.

5 companies fight fire at Living Unlimited home and shop

Fire of unknown origin caused nearly $20,000 damage July 19 at the home plant of Living Unlimited, Long Grove. A warehouse 30 x 40 and contents were completely destroyed. The large residence of the owner, William Schuchardt, was saved, but was partially gutted by fire. Water did as much damage as did the fire, which was confined to an upper story, part of the roof and office of Mr. Schuchardt.

Five fire companies answered the call. Palatine and Long Grove companies brought two trucks, Mundelein, Lake Zurich and Barrington each sent one. A pond near the residence provided plenty of water for all engines.

The fire was originally discovered by children who notified Leroy Binkley, architect, and Warren Koepke, draftsman, who were the only ones home at the time. As Binkley was endeavoring to get the phone operator, Mr. Schuchardt, returning home, saw the blaze from the road and returned to Long Grove to call all neighboring departments.

Four hundred gallons of fuel oil on the second floor of the warehouse added to the intensity of the fire, which with a strong wind jumped across 30 feet and ignited the roof of the larger building. A thin sheet of copper sheeting at the end of the building prevented the fire from entering lower than the attic. Triple insulation between the ceiling of the living quarters and the attic prevented fire from going downward.

As Palatine firemen arrived on the scene large flames were shooting from the southern part of the building. Two lines of hose were soon playing on that section of the building. Tons of water flooded the living quarters two inches deep damaging a piano and other furniture.

Fred Scheuner dies at home Monday

Mr. Scheuner was born November 18, 1875, in Switzerland. His wife, Bertha, preceded him in death. Deceased was a resident of Arlington Heights for 18 years.

Survivors include: a son, Fred J. of Arlington Heights; a daughter, Frieda Hanson, and two brothers, Ernest and Charles.

Pinch-hitter attends first board meeting

When I was asked to "pinch-hit" for the regular Herald reporter who covers Arlington Heights village board sessions, I had expected to sneak in the back way, keep my pencil and paper hidden, surepticiously taking down notes.

Instead, I was spotted and given the kind of a welcome that I never supposed was accorded reporters. Esconced in the chair at the press table I was ready for things to happen. They didn't.

There was no excitement. It might have been a meeting of a "sewing circle" except nobody was doing any sewing. As I sat there I wondered why the village trustees do not have uniforms to wear on meeting nights and why they didn't at least pin their aldermanic stars on the outside of their coats.

OUTSIDE OF APPROVAL of a $331,000 budget, hardy anything happened to write about. When I told that to the editor, he said that no matter how insignificant the action of the village board may appear to a cub reporter, readers of this paper expect to be told village board happenings, in fullest detil. I fished my notes out of the waste basket and here they are.

It seems that the budget total agreed upon the previous week was $303,000. Eight thousand dollars were added that evening ($6,000 for purchase of land and $2,000 for street opening and extension.) Note: They did not tell me the immediate plans of the village to spend that money.

An off-the-record conference will be held with Ollie Besinger at a special meeting next Monday evening when he will be asked to outline his plans regarding future development in Stonegate. A resolution was passed voiding a building permit 12 months after it is issued.

Willard Walters of the planning commission drew the attention of the board to the fact that the recently purchased school site east of Scarsdale is less than five acres which is contrary to good village planning and that ingress and egress is only via one street.

ON MOTION of trustees Carlisle and Hoffie, a committee of three comprising H. J. Thal, Harry Robinson and Dave Zimmermann were to meet with the elementary school board and three of the planning commission Wednesday to discuss such matters.

Village clerk was instructed to ask the Creamery Package Co. to make an effort to cut down the amount of smoke and noise and to use greater care in dumping refuse in the correct sewer.

Arlington Realty Co. was given authority to make repairs on the sales building on South State rd. However, they will be required to pay the usual sign fee for continued use of the covered wooden awning.

ON RECOMMENDATION of the Police Commission, Thomas A. Ullock was appoined a patrolman, effective July 1.

Larson Co. was told that the village had no objection to that company establishing Ironwood drive as a private entrance to six homes, with the understanding that the company would maintain that driveway at its own expense, including snow removal.

E. J. Ahmer, retiring building commissioner, reported for June 23 residential permits totaling $268,320; 13 garages at $13,000 and 11 alterations, $11,890.

I do not know how much of the above readers will consider news, but at least the village board of eight members and an attorney spent more than three hours arriving at the decisions they made. If it was worth that much time of our public officials, I guess it is worth the space that it takes to tell readers what happened at Arlington Heights village board meeting July 23.

Fred Hammer Jr. building commissioner

The appointment of Fred Hammer Jr. as Arlington Heights building commissioner to succeed Edward J. Ahmer, who resigned recently, was confirmed by the village board at Monday night's special meeting.

Mr. Hammer, who is a carpenter by trade, lives on Linneman rd., where he has made his home since serving in the armed forces during World War II.

He has already begun work on the large number of applications for permits already on file.

Canadian newsprint price draws wrath of U. S. publishers

This week the price of Canada's newsprint goes up $10 a ton. It's going to cost U. S. newspapers a whopping $50-million more a year. All the publishers and the whole hierarchy of price stabilizers in Washington are screaming murder.

It's one of the nastiest economic battles that's ever boiled up between the U. S. and Canada. Newsprint is one of the most important—and touchiest—items of trade between the two countries.

THE CANADIANS are being accused of pulling a vicious squeeze play, disregarding their rearmament promises to keep prices down. Defense mobilizer Charles Wilson is shortly off to Ottawa to try to talk the Canadians into a compromise.

But the Canadians — paper men and government officials alike—back the price increase to the hilt; they say they won't budge an inch.

There's more to the world newsprint situation than a U.S.-Canadian squabble. Canada produces more newsprint than the 5.4 million tons out of a total 10 million. The U. S. uses more newsprint than the rest of the world combined — around 6 million tons. In many cases, other nations are out in the cold, can't get one of the free world's most important commodities.

CANADIANS swear their price increase justified. Before news was sprung on U. S. price chief Michael DiSalle, the Canadian cabinet went into the industry's request for a price hike in detail. Finally, Defense Production Minister C. D. Howe gave his unqualified blessing.

Higher costs, says Howe, are the reason. The newsprint unions got an 11% wage boost on May 1; freight charges are higher. And items like the cost of sulfur, shortest of all world raw materials and a key ingredient in paper, figured heavily in the decision.

ACTUALLY, the story behind the price rise goes back many years—to the depression days. Many of Canada's big newsprint mills had just set up shop in the 1920's. Initial investments were tremendous even then. All but a few went bankrupt, selling their output at rock-bottom prices of $35 a ton.

The depression experience remains vivid, discouraging new investment. Of 10 new pulp and paper mills built in Canada since the war, not one was for newsprint. The 1-million-ton rise in capacity since the war has been entirely due to plant improvements and speed-ups.

Newsprint is the ugly duckling of the paper industry "Why," say paper men, "should we make newsprint when kraft paper for cartons brings at least $40 to $60 a ton more?" They claim they could even sell the pulp content of their newsprint in the U. S. for more than the newsprint itself.

CANADIANS ALSO like to point out that they are selling newsprint to U. S. publishers way below world-market prices. A ton at $116 in New York would bring $187 f.o.b. Canada if sold to Britain. And many other nations, especially in Latin America, are standing in line to pay between $200 and $300. But the Canadians seldom add that the U. S. buys most of their production and that the rest of the world could not absorb it at any price.

Canadians argue that American publishers could carry off the increased newsprint costs in grand fashion if they'd only boost their advertising rates. They think newspaper rates are way out of line with increased readership.

There's another behind-the-scenes factor in Canada's approval of the newsprint hike. Ottawa feels it's getting the short end of the defense program, buying a lot more from the U. S. (around $125-million) than the U. S. is buying from Canada (now around $30-million). Canada needs dollars badly to fix this adverse balance. And the newsprint increase will bring in a cool $50,000,000.

Newsprint is an essential commodity in the U. S.—and one of the largest imports. All but 2% of these imports come from Canada — where there are no price controls. Newsprint is often the largest single item of cost to publishers — sometimes almost 40% for the larger papers.

The U. S. has little choice but to try for a compromise—or pay. There has been wild talk about withholding sulfur from the Canadians or canceling defense contracts in Canada. But it's unlikely that such a get-tough policy will be used. And there can't be any "Buy American" policy on newsprint. For 35 years the U. S. newsprint industry hasn't been able to keep up with surging demand and tariff-free Canadian imports or to encourage new investors.

Newsstand price of Paddock Publications 10 cents next week

Newsstand price of all eight editions of Paddock Publications will be 10 cents effective Thursday morning, August 2. Increased cost of newsprint is the "final straw" which necessitated scrapping the old price, established in 1945. This will affect both newsstand and "route boy" sales.

Accident Saturday kills one, injures seven

When two cars collided at the intersection of routes 72 and 53 Saturday night, one person was killed and seven injured.

Richard Heinz of Marengo was driving east on route 72, and Edward J. Tarsa Jr., of Chicago attempted to turn left in front of him. It was Mr. Tarsa's daughter age 10, who was killed. Both cars, of course, were badly damaged.

ANOTHER serious accident occurred last week Monday on Milwaukee ave., just north of Dundee rd., in Wheeling. A Schulze bakery truck driven by Frank Giebahausan of Chicago was slowing down to stop on the west side of Milwaukee ave. when it was struck from behind by a truck of the Tile Service co., driven by Gus Brzozowski, also of Chicago.

The collision drove the first truck into another filled with sand and Giebahausan was thrown out. He was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, with serious injuries. The driver of the other truck received head lacerations.

Fractures hip when family dog welcomes recovery of mistress

Mrs. Louis Linnemann, Linnemann rd., Elk Grove, is confined to her bed with a broken hip. The injury was caused two weeks ago by the family dog, which was overjoyous seeing her for the first time after she had been confined to her bed six weeks because of pneumonia and a heart attack.

She became ill in March. The dog has been pardoned for displaying so much joy. The physician has assured the family that Mrs. Linnemann will be able to walk again.

Expect enrollment of 1250 in high school; 1500 in elementary

President Truman is not the only official in these United States who is asking for increased spending. Local governments find that inflation costs are boosting their financial requirements. Chief among these are the Arlington village board, Arlington Heights High School Board of Education and Elementary School District No. 25.

The total spending of these three bodies for the present year is being estimated at $1,450,000. Considerable share of their budgets will not be passed on to the property owners as taxes. In the case of the schools the state of Illinois, the federal government, tuition and transportation receipts must be included in the budget although no taxes will be levied for such purposes.

The municipal government earns a large part of its needed funds from water sales, permits and special fees. Thus the tax news is not as bad as the total budget figures indicate, which are:

Arlington high school	$ 652,500
Arlington village	311,000
Elementary sch. dis.	487,800
Total	$1,451,300

High school

INCREASED budget requirements of the high school are $121,000. The tax payers of the district will hardly feel that increase. For the first time a lot of new homes constructed in the last two and three years are on the tax books. The year's increase in valuations is sufficient to limit tax rate increase to only a point or two.

There will be an increase of 125 in the enrollment of the school. Transportation will be provided for 700 students. Thirty bus routes are scheduled. Ten buses will be used, five of which will make double trips.

Six additional teachers have been hired, bringing the total to 56. Their salaries account for $245,000 of the budget. Additional items of the educational fund include janitors $23,000, fuel $13,000, cooks in the cafeteria $8,000, office secretaries $12,000. The total of the educational fund is $435,000 as compared with $379,000 last year. The reimbursements and other receipts that will be credited to this fund are nearly $45,000.

Arlington Heights high school district had not retired the bonds of previous building expenses before it was compelled to start building the present million dollar addition. Amount required for bonds and interest is $85,000, but only $33,000 is required for interest payments on the latest bond issue.

Other costs charged to the building fund are insurance, repairs, replacement, development, janitor work and some equipment for the new building. The total estimated expenditure for building purposes is $217,500.

Village

Administration department of the municipal government is the only branch that does not show salary increases. The mayor and trustees will still work for their old salaries. The total for the department only shows an increase of $500, and the board found some economies although the figures for engineering had to be doubled to $7,000.

Other departments of the village show salary increases, each contributing its mite towards the "upping" of the budget. This is particularly true in the police department which shows increases in salaries of $14,000. A saving of $500 was attained by reducing requirements for police new equipment to $2500.

Five hundred dollars additional is being provided for salaries of firemen. Other allowances for the fire department are about the same. A saving of $100 was found possible in the health department. The health commissioner's salary was increased to $300.

MAJOR INCREASES in the street department are $5,000 for new equipment and $2,000 additional for trimming trees.

Sewer department shows very little change except a saving of $7,500 that was included in last year's budget for acquirement of additional land for treatment works.

The budget makes a cut of $1500 from the amount allowed last year for changes in the municipal building and office furniture.

The appropriation ordinance has $4,000 worth of good news to autoists. Last year's budget of $3,000 for parking areas has been raised to $4,000.

THE PURCHASE of a site for a well and reservoir last year eliminates $10,000 from the maintenance needs of water system. However the increasing number of new homes requires a lot of water meters and connection expenses and there is a boost of $5,000 for such purpose.

The retirement and benefit fund for employees of the village has been necessarily increased from $5,000 to $6,500. The state law governs the amount that shall be paid into the fund and the village is required to meet that figure.

PUBLIC LIBRARY requirements have jumped over $4,000 in anticipation of the occupancy of the new building. The new items are $3,000 for furniture and fixtures, and increased janitor supplies. The salary budget for librarian and assistants will be $4,150. The library budget totals $12,900. In addition an allowance of $3,000 is made for library bonds and interest.

A saving of nearly $2,000 can be credited to the Plan Commission which will have authority to spend $1,000 compared with $2900 last year.

The 1951-52 municipal budget is $311,000 compared with $282,000 last year. The earnings and normal receipts of the village last year accounted for about half of the budget. If the same holds true this year, only $160,000 will be passed on to the tax payers.

An auditor's report of the corporate fund receipts and expenditures and the water department also appear on page 15 which also contains the appropriation ordinance for the coming year.

Elementary school

FIFTEEN HUNDRED children will attend Arlington Heights elementary schools next year. That number explains the why-for of a budget that totals $487,000, which will be presented at a public hearing August 14.

That amount includes all monies that the board of education will handle next year. It does not mean that the tax payers will be asked to "kick-in" that amount.

That is a lot of money, but again Arlington Heights has a lot of school. Included is $285,000 for the 60 teachers who will be instructing the 1500 pupils. The school anticipates an increased enrollment that will reach 250 before the end of the school year. New employees include eight additional teachers, a full time maintenance man and a half-time secretary at the South school.

Arlington Heights has three elementary schools and a fourth will soon be on the way. The present three schools will require $35,000 for janitor services, fuel, water, lights and power, $12,000 for new equipment, $3,350 for tuition, which includes instruction of handicapped children in specialized schools and $6,000 is provided in the bus program, for which the state gives a credit of $20 a pupil.

The above items represent expenditures by the educational fund. The building fund total is $142,000, of which the bonds and interest will require $110,000.

Interested readers can learn the detailed figures of the municipal budget in this week's edition. Public hearing on the high school will be held August 13. The elementary school hearing will be August 14.

Lions hold Olympics for Heights boys and girls August 15

Boys and girls of elementary school age who live in Arlington Heights are invited to register now for the Lions Olympics to be held August 15 at Recreation park.

Russell Attis is receiving entries, which are free of charge, at the field house, and youngsters may enter as many events as they choose. There will be morning contests in shuffleboard, singles and doubles tennis, horse shoe throwing, basketball free throw and a handicraft exhibit. In the afternoon there will be competition in 40 yard dash, running bases, broad jump and baseball throw.

The two swimming events are 25 yard free style and backstroke, with preliminaries in swimming being held August 8 at 10 a.m. for boys and on the ninth for girls. Finals in swimming will be held at 7:30 p.m. the night of August 15.

The Olympics program will get underway at 10 a.m. August 15 with a wheel parade. Entries will be judged on the basis of comedy and originality.

Prizes to the winners will, of course, be major rewards for entries, but the boys and girls who contest are all guaranteed a lot of fun.

Birthday parties

Little 4-year old Mary Ehrke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ehrke, celebrated her birthday Saturday afternoon. It was a cowboy party, and 17 of her friends joined in the fun. The children enjoyed refreshments and games played outdoors.

Gail Martin, 3-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Martin, was kept busy last week attending the birthday parties of two of her little playmates, Mary Ehrke and Jimmy Kilbury, who celebrated his fifth birthday Thursday.

Plans changed

Allen Perow celebrated his ninth birthday Thursday quietly at home. His original plans were cancelled as his father had to fly to Alabama on business. However, a much prized tennis racket and ball, received from his parents, made up for his disappointment.

House guests

William Hunt Jr. of Chicago is spending a few weeks at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yelton.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Balfour entertained Dr. Balfour's mother, Mrs. Mary Balfour, over the week end.

Vacationing at the Bernard J. Colvin home is Mr. Colvin's brother, Hugh Colvin, of New York City, who is connected with the New York Central railroad in an executive capacity.

Transferred

Milton Malone was home over the week end. He was transferred to Atlanta, Ga., July 1. Mrs. Malone plans to join her husband sometime in August.

Vacationers

The James E. Wood family returned Friday afternoon after spending a little over three weeks in Newfound Lake, N. H., visiting Mrs. Wood's mother, Mrs. D. Everett Hoyt. Three days were spent in Salem where they enjoyed shore dinners, the ocean and mountains. Many happy hours were spent fishing. Mr. Wood caught both lake and brook trout. The children's efforts also were rewarded.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Senate Small Business Committee is investigating the newsprint situation that threatens the existence of approximately 10,000 weekly and independent daily newspapers.

A strange apathy exists in official circles toward the existence of these independent newspapers.

Newsprint prices have more than doubled in the past 11 years.

Bureaucrats also want to raise the postal rates on newspapers.

C. W. Harder

But despite a reported newsprint shortage, strange things occur.

Marshall Plan continues to give millions of dollars worth of paper to foreign countries.

The general public should take action to protect the independent newspapers for the general welfare. The problem is far bigger than the welfare of the relatively few publishers.

Let these independent papers perish, and the entire national communication system is under the control of the bureaucrats.

There are many solutions to the problem.

One step would be for the government to curtail its propaganda activities. As revealed by the committee, the Federal government today uses 7 per cent of total newsprint supply while 10,000 independent newspapers use only 2 per cent.

Government acted fast on tin and rubber. Both of these commodities have become in greater supply and for less cost than just a few months ago.

But then, some big corporations were interested in both tin and rubber.

Part of the apathy in Washington on the newsprint situation is the feeling among many bureaucrats that the independent publisher is a pretty unreliable sort of a person.

He is so independent, he separates the facts from the propaganda, and facts are things that bureaucrats don't like published.

They feel operators of radio and television stations are much more reliable.

For example, right now, the nation's television stations are giving thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of time to running a propaganda film "The Marshall Plan in Action." It's called a public service feature.

It's probably the first time in history that a gun held to anyone's head has been called public service.

Radio and TV stations are at the mercy of the Federal Communications Commission.

Theoreticaly these stations are required to furnish equal time free to people who would like to point out that Marshall Plan is spending American tax dollars for such items as printing tourist guides for European travel and for a host of other activities.

But "public service" as interpreted by the bureaucrats, is a one way street.

That's why independent newspaper publishers are considered unreliable in Washington. They print the truth as they see it.

It is a safe bet that if newspapers would consent to government licensing, ways and means would be found to provide them newsprint.

Textured Rayon

Courtesy Du Pont

FRESH and young looking in this daytime, go-everywhere dress is a new honan type fabric, woven of a new "Thick-and-Thin" rayon yarn. Its pleasing uneven surface has unusual interest in view of the current fashion emphasis on texture. Called "Pontung," the fabric has a subdued luster and is soft and luxurious in the hand. It drapes in graceful, fluid lines and is well suited to fine tailoring. This wearable dress for juniors has inverted unpressed pleats in the gently flaring skirt. Large tabs extending from the cap sleeves below the shoulder are held in place with engraved gold medallions. Covered buttons, interestingly spaced, are used for the front closing.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

The magic word "parade" will draw many people toward the line of march of the spectacular one sponsored by the VFW this Sunday. Starting at 2 p.m. this annual highlight of the VFW festival may well draw spectators from many nearby towns as well as most every one from Arlington Heights.

Drum and bugle corps are, of course, the most thrilling part of the parade, but that won't be the only feature in this one, though more than a dozen will appear. There'll be floats, motor equipment, and men and women representing many of the local civic organizations.

One of the Chicago area's most famous drum and bugle corps, that of the Commonwealth Edison post of the American Legion, will appear both in the parade and in the contest to follow at Recreation park. Dr. Benjamin W. Mach of the National Drum and Bugle corps association will have charge of the program in the park.

The mammoth parade is but a part of the program planned for the five-day festival which began last night, Wednesday. The usual policy of free admission to the grounds will prevail with entertainment of many sorts promised. There'll be rides, games, refreshments—in charge of the women's auxiliary of the post—and nightly entertainment.

Local talent will be featured tonight, Thursday, with the increasingly popular barbershop quartet chorus on the program. Jean and Burt Petersen, a skating act by experts, is on the docket for Friday, while on Saturday an outstanding trampoline duo, Chase and Parks, will appear.

Complete details of the parade and its line of march and other highlights of the annual VFW festival will be found in the booklet left on the doorsteps of residents of the village this past week.

Another summer festival

Members of St. James parish and their families will gather Friday evening in the spacious basement of their new church. The festival, which is being held to augment the dwindling funds for the completion of the new church, offers a good time for those attending. Entertainment is informal and a 1951 car will be given away. Refreshments will be available.

Hello, Central

Lots more Arlington folks will be able to call for Central as soon as the new telephone switchboards are installed, and it won't be long now. Telephone company people are pointing towards early fall as the time when most of those who applied for telephone service before June 1 can expect to receive it.

This is good news not only to people in Arlington, but many in Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights and in the subdivisions nearby also served from the Arlington Heights central office.

To facilitate giving service to those on the waiting list at the earliest possible moment, telephone instruments are being preinstalled in homes and the cable laid before the actual switchboards are installed, and then when the work on the boards is completed, there will be no further wait.

At Normal

Students at Illinois State Normal university with grades no lower than B are included on "The Dean's List." Published each semester, the list emphasizes the fact that there are students with good scholastic averages other than those honored at Commencement and at the annual Honors Day Convocation, which recognizes students in the upper three per cent of their classes.

Included from this area named by ISNU Dean Arthur H. Larsen on the list for the second semester of 1950-51 is Vilma Ruth Martinus of Bensenville.

Electric and gas bills every 60 days starting in September

The Illinois Commerce commission last week approved a bimonthly billing system for electrical current customers of the Public Service company of Northern Illinois.

The Public Service company figures to save $500,000 for billing and $100,000 in customer expenses.

The company will not lay off any workers. Because of manpower shortages, the workers will be assigned to jobs in other departments.

The new system will go into operation in September. Then you will start getting less utility bills, but it won't make any difference, for the time being at least, in the money you pay.

The strange thing, said Commerce commission observers, is that no one thought of it long ago.

"I got the story on
50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"
says Carl W. Smith
Chrysler-Plymouth Dealer
Miles City, Montana

"Cars coming to my shop after using Conoco Super are cleaner and show less wear than anything I have seen in my 27 years of garage work," Mr. Smith says.

"My car is my meal ticket," admits R. C. Eberhart, Travelingman, Flagler, Colo. "I average 2,800 miles a month. Since changing to new Conoco Super, my operating cost has been reduced and the performance is much smoother."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

"Repair work has been cut 50% since I started using Conoco Super in all our delivery vehicles," writes George Lange, Laundry Partner, Muskogee, Okla. "One has run over 30,000 miles on Conoco Super, without any mechanical work."

Girls' State attorney general meets state officers on capitol tour

Miss Dress, who was a junior at Arlington Heights township high school, was selected by the American Legion Auxiliary of Arlington Heights to attend Illini Girls' State at MacMurray college in Jacksonville. Mr. Elliott is a past State Commander of the American Legion.

The girls in the background were elected to other state offices and, like Miss Dress, met the state officers at Springfield on their tour of the capitol.

Sue and her family are now living in Fort Madison, Ia.

Roselle bank robbers after 'only a thrill' but get 5 years

The three youths who stood before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe Friday morning in Chicago appeared scared and shaken as they awaited sentencing on two indictments for bank robbery.

"I wish someone could tell me how boys with their backgrounds could do the wrongs they did," the Judge remarked. "It's a sad, sordid picture. Everything was done to head them down the right road, in the right direction, to the right end, but all to no avail."

Then, looking down at the three, he said, "I sentence you each into federal custody for five years." This brought a solemn close to the case of the United States versus Richard Blecha, John McMahon and Albert Stella.

Blecha, 19, Berwyn; McMahon, 20, Chicago; Stella, 20, Cicero, robbed the Roselle State bank of $20,857 in cash and checks March 2 and last September got $32,947 in robbing the South Holland bank. They each pleaded guilty to these acts shortly after being arrested by the FBI in May.

BEFORE PRONOUNCING the sentences, Judge Igoe heard final pleas for probation and leniency from the youths' attorneys. The lawyers pointed out that each of the defendants came from good families and, prior to the robberies, had no trouble with the law. The guns used in the holdups weren't loaded, it was further claimed.

Blecha, reportedly the leader of the trio, was scheduled to be married a few days after his arrest, his attorney said, and McMahon's counsel remarked that the youths were going through a period of uneasiness, not knowing if they'd be sent off to Korea, hit by an atom bomb, or what. "They were just out for a thrill," Stella's lawyer said, "And in the last two and a half months in jail they've realized the seriousness of their wrongs."

THE ATTORNEYS also reminded Judge Igoe that much of the loot taken in the robberies has already been returned. About $15,000 of Blecha's share in the robberies is back in the hands of its owners and close to $5,500 has been returned by McMahon. The $5,600 that Stella put into a new home has also been returned, it was revealed.

Judge Igoe thought over the pleas for a moment and then said, "I don't place much validity in the reasons given by the defendants' lawyers. The war in Korea has nothing to do with robbery in Cook county. These youths did not act for thrills or on the spur of the moment.

"We've had many cases involving youths with bad home conditions and consequential lack of opportunity to enjoy life, but none of these reasons are apparent in this case. Their parents gave them everything they should need to be good citizens. They made sacrifices and worked diligently and earnestly for the boys, but they've now disgraced their families in a fashion that should make them hang their heads in shame."

As they left the courtroom handcuffed to each other, Blecha, McMahon and Stella did hang their heads. The disgrace, shame and sorrow they brought into their homes was evidenced by the tears shed by their families.

WILL THE PERSON WHO took my change purse between 1 p. m. and 3 p. m. Thursday, July 19, please return key ring, keys, crucifix and Australian penny. Keep money if you wish, leave in Palatine A&P store. Thank you. Marie Zimmer. (*

Reward for lost dog

George M. Reinbolt, who lives out in Plum Grove, is advertising this week for his lost pal, "Sparky," a toy bull dog who wandered into the woods Sunday and has not returned.

Sparky is a friendly little fellow with one eye, and George thought that maybe some berry pickers might have picked him up.

"Sparky" and George have been pals for a long time, and if anyone who picked up the little fellow will return him to George, he'll get $25 in cash and George's everlasting thanks.

Palatine firemen to build $35,000 addition to present fire station

Palatine Fire Department will start erection of a two-story addition to the present fire house soon after its carnival which opens August 2 and continues through the fifth.

The addition will be an outright gift to the village, as was the present firehouse. The department recently paid $3,500 for the land needed for the addition. It is 33 x 132 ft.

The boys do not intend to ask the village to help finance the building. "A 'repeat' of the usual response the general public gives us at our annual carnivals is all that we ask," Chief Gaare told a reporter Wednesday.

The new building will serve a double purpose. Steel beams will be used to eliminate posts. Two large entrance doors will permit a separate stall for each truck, four in number. In the present building they are double parked.

The extra space will also provide interior wash racks, a new heating plant, storage for carnival equipment and facilities for all fire fighting accessories that will be always ready for instant use.

While the second floor will not be finished at once, it will be available for civic meetings, dances, etc. The firemen have a fully equipped kitchen in the present building, but they are looking forward to a larger assembly quarters.

The front of the addition will be of brick construction and concrete blocks will be used on the other sides. The roof will be of fire proof construction. The plans also call for electrically operated doors.

The present building was built in 1941 at a cost of $10,000. It is 33 feet wide and 60 feet long and officials point out that it is too small to house adequately the four trucks and other equipment.

Officials also announced the purchase of a new electric generator, smoke fan, three floodlights and an oxygen resuscitator, at a cost of $1,700. Funds from the carnival also were used to meet this cost.

The Palatine volunteers number 28 and are headed by William Gaare, chief, and Orville Helms, assistant chief. These volunteers also man equipment for the Palatine Rural district covering 50 square miles outside the village.

Members of the carnival committee are Arno Tody, chairman; Art Kehe, William Weide, and Clifford Wente.

Arlington singing club entertains paraplegics

Arlington Heights Singing club entertained Vaughn hospital paraplegics at a picnic July 15, in Baden Powell Camp Forest Preserve on River rd.

More than 100 persons attended the picnic, where the club's own "Rhythm Gang," made up of Les Griffith, Louis Klages, Emilio Sylvestra, William Cooke, Henry Moore and Ralph Stippick, provided the instrumental part of the entertainment along with Betty Jane Becker, accordionist, and Kay Bressner, who plays the guitar and saxaphone.

The Barber Shop Quartet under the direction of Stan Myers, Florence Lunning, Nora Conglis, Dorothy Holding, Virginia Rechberger, Lois Jacobsen, Jim Barnes and David and Virginia Warner added to the entertainment with their singing.

Jim Barnes, dressed in typical western attire complete with a ten gallon hat, put his horse, King, through the traditional cowboy tricks.

After the boys had eaten their fill of home-cooked food, they gathered in a circle in their wheel chairs and sang along with the singers.

A letter from the wife of one of these vets, which appears in the Fence Post of this issue, shows just how much the vets enjoyed this outing.

The success of the picnic was in a large part due to the effort and work of Florence and Margaret Lunning, who solicited the help of various companies and individuals to make the picnic possible.

Naomi Cook, director and chairman of the Arlington Heights Singing club, wishes to thank those people who made the picnic a success and those who month after month contribute money and cigarettes to further the entertainment program.

This picnic was an extra party given for the boys. The club still goes to the hospital once a month, and Miss Cook hopes that more people will become interested and will make it a community project.

No salaries are paid to these entertainers, and no expenses are taken out. Entertainment and time are given free, and the money collected goes to the boys at the hospital.

The club wishes to thank the following companies and individuals for their help in this project:

Robert Romans, Pabst beer distributor; Henry Kruse, Schlitz beer distributor; Mike Slater, Meister Brau beer distributor; Robert Schnell, Rheingold beer distributor; Ben Bagan, Orange Crush co.; Mr. Kinney, Joyce Seven-Up; Mr. Harper, Coca-Cola co.

Pepsi Cola co., Arlington Beverage co., Grennan Baking co. and the drivers for Piper Baking co., Wonder Bread, Silvercup and Schulz Butternut.

Mt. Prospect battling for first division in Palatine softball league play

Though Mt. Prospect is going nowhere in Palatine softball league play, the squad has been battling for third spot in the standings. At present, Palatine Theater is a half-game behind Mt. Prospect in the first division.

Since this picture was taken Bill Wille has gone west for summer ROTC training with the Marines at San Diego, and Roy Goebbert suffered a kidney injury, eliminating him for the rest of the season. A couple of the other boys are in service but commute between camp and the diamond.

$140,000 HANDICAP SATURDAY TO END ARLINGTON RACE MEET

The $140,000 Arlington Handicap, richest race of its kind, provides the grand finale to Arlington Park's Silver Jubilee racing season Saturday, July 28. Midweek feature of the final week was the $70,000 Arlington Futurity for two-year-olds Wednesday.

Entries for the rich handicap closed November 1, and when final payments were made May 1, 43 top members of the handicap division remained eligible for the big race. The 1951 renewal of the Arlington Handicap will be the richest in the 21-year history of the event.

The value-rich Arlington Handicap guarantees $100,000 to the winning horse; the runner that finishes second will earn as much as 85 per cent of America's stakes races are worth to the winner.

TOP WEIGHT of 124 pounds in Arlington Park's richest stakes was assigned Rokeby Stable's brilliantly successful County Delight, who is listed as one of 12 and perhaps 14 probable starters.

Among those expected to go postward, are Walmac Farm's Volcanic, Brandywine Stable's Cochise, Mrs. Louis Lazare's Sheilas Reward, King Ranch's Curandero, Greentree Stable's Big Stretch and One Hitter, P. A. Markey's Piet, Mrs. John Payson Adams' Miche, Brownell Combs' Bernwood, Maurice and Roy Saffir's Dr. Ole Nelson, H. P. Headley's Aegina, Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship, and Tom Gray's and Mrs. H. Tretsek's Oil Capitol.

The East will have a powerful representation in the rich handicap. Rockeby Stable's County Delight, 124; Greek Ship, 121; Cochise, 120; Sheilas Reward, 117; and Piet, 113.

COUNTY DELIGHT, one of the flying Count Fleets, started his rise to prominence in February, running third in the $50,000 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park. Later he beat King Ranch's On the Mark by 2½ lengths to win the mile and three-sixteenths $25,000 Dixie Handicap at Pimlico, and continued his winning ways later in the $60,000-added Gallant Fox Handicap, beating Palestinian a neck. County Delight's lifetime earnings are $106,085, of which $94,285 has been accumulated this year.

Walmac Farm's Volcanic, holder of four official speed records, carries second high weight of 122 pounds, and has turned in two creditable performances this year. His nearest to a stakes win was second to Royal Governor in the $50,000 Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park on the Fourth of July, but before that the six-year-old son of Ambrose Light won a 1 1/16-mile race on the Arlington turf course by three lengths in new track record time of 1:42 4/5.

Greek Ship, the racing property of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable, was one of two leading sons of last year's leading American sire Heliopolis. As a three-year-old in 1950 he made a profitable habit of beating older horses in the handicap division, and this year he finished third to County Delight and Palestinian in the Gallant Fox Handicap.

ANOTHER of the Eastern contingent is Brandywine Stable's Cochise, a formidable member of the handicap division last year when he won the Sussex and Massachusetts Handicaps, and the Saratoga Cup. So far this year the son of Boswell — New Pin, by Royal Minstrel has accounted for the $25,000-added Grey Leg Handicap.

Mrs. Louis Lazare has named her Sheilas Reward, winner of the Queens County Handicap and second in the Jamaica and Brooklyn Handicaps this year. Still another from the East is P. A. Markey's Piet, winner of the Jamaica Handicap, second in the Metropolitan, and third in the Queens County and Carter Handicaps in 1951.

Greentree Stable will have one and maybe two performers in the rich handicap. The three-year-old Big Stretch may run, depending on what trainer John Gaver thinks of his performance in last Saturday's Arlington Classic, and One Hitter, winner of the Massachusetts Handicap, is listed as one of the probables.

Arlington Redwings baseball team, rained out this past week end, will play at Westmont this Sunday.

Palatine Motors upsets Barrington, 2-1

A pair of second division teams of the Illinois softball league, last-place Palatine and the Northbrook Hawks, shocked the Barrington Bears over the week end with a pair of defeats, thus jolting Barrington out of first place. Palatine scored a 2-1 triumph while Northbrook took a 6-3 verdict.

Libertyville's Comets, who took over first place, nipped visiting Oak Park and pitcher Earl Shelton at Libertyville, 3-2, as Warren Boyes chalked up his ninth league win in 12 starts. Libertyville and Barrington were slated to meet early this week at Libertyville, the result not being available at this writing.

PALATINE'S 2-1 upset of Barrington took place at Barrington when in the late innings Ned Wickersham scored from second base on a bunt with the winning run. Wickersham who plays both the infield and outfield, tallied both of Palatine's runs and registered two of his team's three hits.

Northbrook's surprise 6-3 verdict over Barrington took place also at Barrington as Bob Loutsch turned in his fifth triumph. Bob Musson lined out three hits in four tries to pace the Northbrook attack. Barrington has protested the game to league commissioner Frank Bosworth because of a foul ball being returned to the playing field during an actual play with the result that a Barrington runner was thrown out.

In another league result Oak Park blanked Des Plaines 4-0 as Bob Mkelush held his victims to one hit. On Sunday Oak Park rallied in the late innings to break a 4--4 tie and edge Palatine, 6-4.

Schiller Carpet takes lead in Arlington golf

Schiller Carpet won all their matches last week and took 11 points from Lohr's Pharmacy who were in first place the week before. Lingren's Men's Wear went into second place by taking 7 points from Dunteman's Dairy.

With two weeks of play before the Paddock tournament, there are seven teams still in contention which are, besides the above, Jahn's Service Station, Arlington Bowling Lanes and Lauterberg & Oehler.

Congratulations to Bill Copeland, of Black's Memorial Home team, who scored a hole-in-one on the 175 yard 16th. Bill used a No. 5 iron, and says he credits the shot to the fact he held the club "very loose."

Bob Botterman and Carl Huber shared low gross honors with 37's.

Poole Fords tie Franklin Park

Win, lose and tie. That was the record of the George C. Poole Fords, Arlington Heights entrant in American Legion baseball competition this week. Arlington lost to Park Ridge, 5-1, beat Maryville, 8-1, then tied Franklin Park, 1-1.

The Franklin Park game Monday night on the southern makeshift grass diamond was called at the end of eight innings, 1-1.

Bob Simmons pitched great ball till the seventh when Tommy Meyer relieved him and did some great clutch pitching in the two innings he hurled.

Franklin Park started off with a bang in the first inning when Nordellio, lead-off man, tripled to right center. Simmons struck out the next two men and forced the third man to ground out, stranding Nordellio on third. In the second inning, however, Simmons walked the first man, Lueth advanced to second on an infield out, went to third on a passed ball, and then scored the only run by stealing home.

ARLINGTON scored its lone run in the fifth when Gorder and Verret walked, advanced on a passed ball and Simmons got an infield hit to drive in Gorder. Franklin Park threatened to score in the last of the seventh when Flick singled, stole second and advanced to third on an infield out.

At this point Meyer replaced Simmons on the mound. The first man he faced tried to bunt, but in the attempt popped it directly back to Meyer on the fly, Tommy throwing to third to double the man and end the inning.

In the eighth, Meyer again was in a jam. Wadsworth singled to open the inning. Miro doubled to left center putting men on second and third. Mock was intentionally walked to load the bases. Meyer pitched great ball to strike out Moehler. Novack came in to pinch hit and Meyer also struck him out. Then Flick hit an easy grounder back to Meyer for the third out.

MEYER ALLOWED two hits, walked one and struck out two in two innings he hurled. Simmons allowed three hits, struck out eight men, and walked only four to further prove that he has found himself as a good pitcher.

The next home game will be Thursday, July 26, or Friday, July 27, against Barrington. Arlington will be out for bitter revenge in this game after losing a hotly-contested game earlier in the season, 4-3.

"I had a swell hunch at the races the other day. It was the seventh day of the seventh month, my wife and I had been married exactly seven years, it was the seventh race, so I played horse No. 7."

"And he won?"

"No, he came in seventh."

Two tough games on tap for Motors

Palatine Motors softball team has a busy week ahead of them.

Besides their engagements in the Palatine league, they meet the fast Libertyville team at Community park Sunday evening in an Illinois softball league game. Wednesday they hook up on the local diamond with Barrington.

Last Friday evening the Motors won a 2 to 1 thriller from Barrington on Barrington's field, and the return game is bound to be a red hot battle.

The Motors are just beginning to find themselves in the big league and expect some different kinds of decisions from here on.

LIBERTYVILLE has taken two from the Motors so far this season, but the local boys hope to break that streak in Sunday night's game at Palatine.

The game Wednesday night will find Barrington and their star pitcher Tracy going out for revenge for Friday's defeat at the hands of the Motors. And the Motors will be doing their utmost to make it two in a row over the vaunted Barrington bears.

These two big league games should furnish thrills galore for the fans, and the largest crowds of the season are expected to be on hand for these two battles.

Theater, Skokie win 3-2 games

Two sparkling softball games with identical scores, 3-2, featured Tuesday night's play in the Palatine softball league.

Palatine Theatre downed Riviera, and Skokie outpointed Mt. Prospect by the same scores.

B. KRICKA of the show house kept his voodoo sign on the Riviera boys by holding them to two hits, one of which was a smashing triple by Kelper and accounted for Riviera's two runs.

Kricka had great support, his team mates pulling off some sensational fielding plays, one of them a beautiful double play.

Riviera also pulled some fine fielding plays. All in all it was a fine game to watch.

The Theatre got their three runs on five hits, while Riviera managed to make their two hits count for two runs.

IN THE OTHER game of the evening, Skokie nosed out Mt. Prospect 3 to 2 in another sparkling game replete with fine pitching and sensational plays. Skokie got six hits in, accounting for their three runs, while Mt. Prospect got two runs on two hits.

Both games were hard fought and interesting from start to finish, and as Welty had sprayed the grounds, the mosquitoes weren't as bad as they might have been.

The playing area will be sprayed before every game.

Hughe's Auto takes lead at Roselle

Close competition in the Roselle golf league headlines play for nominations in Paddock Publications' second annual interleague tournament August 19 at Mt. Prospect country club. Hugh's Auto has taken a half point lead over Roselle Motors.

Back three points is Benhart's tavern, just one score ahead of Village Inn and Roselle Bakery. Norm's Grocery, though in last place, is only five points out of the running for top honors.

First place teams in seven local men's leagues as of Saturday, August 11 will determine entrants in the meet.

HOOK'S NURSERY increased its lead in the Mt. Prospect Wednesday league to six over V & G Printers, with the Bowling Lanes and Dooley Realtors close behind.

In the Tuesday league at Mt. Prospect Commissioner Busse team saw its lead whittled to two points, with Van Driel still in the running, though eight points out.

Prospect Heights Pharmacy has stretched its lead in St. James league to eight points over Stefanik Food.

AT ROB ROY Prospect Heights Appliance dropped a bit but still maintains a 7 point margin over Park Ridge Stop and Sock, and Prospect Heights Service Station.

In the Arlington Heights league Schiller Carpet has taken the lead, four points ahead of Lingren's. Jahn's Service and the Bowling Lanes are still "close in."

Wink's moving up in Mount Prospect golf league

With only six weeks left of scheduled team play in the Mt. Prospect twilight golf league, the teams in the Tuesday night division are slugging it out in a real slam bang battle for first place.

While the first and second place teams were being shellaced July 17, sparked by Rollie Gerrard's gross 37 for the evening the "Red Hot" Winkelman's service station team moved up into contention by leaping from seventh place into fourth place. Van Driel's drug store also moved up a notch into the number three spot, previously occupied by Mt. Prospect Lions club team.

A sledge hammer blow by Moler's barber shop team pushed Lions club team into seventh place with a grand slam ten points. There will surely be blood in the eyes of Captain Elmer Schmitt as his Lions club team takes on the league leading Commissioner William Busse team for their final showdown of the season. Birdies for the evening were scored by Al Schock on the seventh and Rollie Gerrard on the tenth.

IN THE WEDNESDAY night division, standings continue to be dominated by Hook's Nursery as they strengthened their position at the expense of Dooley realtors who were pushed from third to fourth place. V & G Printers moved into second place 6 2-6 points in back of the leaders. However, other teams remain approximately in their same positions.

Birdies were quite the common thing last Wednesday with a sparkler being scored by Len Johnson on that terrifying 17th at the Mt. Prospect country club. Most of the boys would gladly settle for a five on that hole. Len, one of the finest golfers in either league, also scored a bird on the 13th. Other birdies were made by Vince Carlson 1, Dick Wistar 1, H. Patheal 9, Bob Pitt 9, Bill Black 11 and R. Whitley on the very sporty 18th.

Palatine cops fourth with Antioch win

Palatine clinched fourth place in the nine team Northern Illinois Summer league last Wednesday when they won at Antioch in an extra inning game, 5-3. Bob Lorden's second hit in the eighth drove in the winning runs. Paul Schrage, who pitched all the way for the Pirates, also got two hits. The victory gave Palatine an 8-6 record with two games to go.

In other games Wednesday Grayslake beat Harvard, 4-3, Barrington swamped Marengo, 16-0, and Woodstock clinched first place by defeating Elgin, 7-3.

It was Woodstock's 13th victory in 14 games and Elgin's third defeat in 13 games.

FRIDAY Barrington clinched third place by beating Palatine, 3-0. Dan Osinski had a no hitter going into the final frame but Dick Abrahamson singled over third to spoil a very well pitched game. Osinski struck out 16.

Palatine committed seven errors. Three mishaps in each of the first two innings gave Barrington two unearned runs. A squeeze play scored the third one in the sixth inning.

Touting the Bangtails

by T. C. HART

When the curtain rings down Saturday on the big Arlington Park meeting, the twenty-fifth anniversary race meet of Arlington park will become history.

It's been a great meeting — one which kept up the traditions of this beautiful race course.

The crowds this year and the mutuel handle have been considerably better than last year. The horses competing have been of higher class, and in every way the big anniversary meeting has lived up to the reputation set by previous great meetings.

As usual the fanatics have had their troubles, but they always do at Arlington park. There have not been as many startling upsets in the big feature races this year as in many previous years though.

THE CROWDS have had a good time at the big track, called by many race followers, "the most beautiful race course in America."

The throngs of race fans have enjoyed every minute of their days at the track. When the horses were not running, the fans were admiring the natural beauty of the track and its setting, the brightness of those 80,000 blooming petunias, the beautiful lawns, hedges, lagoons and the big paddock park where the horses are saddled under the spreading trees.

And the antics of those 400 white ducks on the infield lagoon have caused a lot of attention and comment from the fans.

IT'S BEEN a great meeting. There have been winners and losers. Favorites and long shots have both delighted their followers at one time or another—and disappointed them at others.

It has been a typical American race meeting amidst some of the finest natural settings in the land.

And now the big show draws to its dramatic close. Yes, with the running of the rich $140,000 Arlington Handicap and its supporting races Saturday the big meeting comes to a dramatic close.

THE HANDICAP, like its Washington Park "twin" — the mile handicap on Sept. 3—is the richest of its kind in racing. The winner is guaranteed $100,000 . . . Second place is guaranteed $25,000 . . . Third palce, $12,500 . . . Fourth place, $6,250. The $25,000 guaranteed the second-place horse is worth more than the winner gets in 85 per cent of the American stake races.

The gross if all 14 start, will be $143,450 (starters pay $1,000 additional to their nomination and eligibility fees . . . On Nov. 1, 1950, 96 payments of $100 each were made . . . Second payments of $150 each were made on Feb. 1, 1951, on 75 candidates . . . Final payments of $200 each were made on May 1, 1951, on 43 candidates . . . which, with Arlington Park Jockey Club's $100,000 added brings the purse to $129,450 before the starters pay their $1,000 starting fee.

1950 finish: Ponder (Steve Brooks); Aegina; Inseparable.

Best mile-and-a-quarter time: 2:01, by Historian in 1946, defeated Armed and Take Wing (the Handicap was 1 1/8 mile in 1929; 1 3/16 in 1929; 1 3/16 on turf in 1941).

Only two jockeys now riding at Arlington Park ever have won a Handicap—Doug Dodson (Armed, 1947) and R. L. Baird (Stud Poker, 1948).

Oldest horse ever to win a Handicap was Marriage, a seven-year-old in 1943. Five-year-olds have won the Handicap five times; four-year-olds, eight times — including Discovery, Equifox, Coaltown and Ponder; two six-year-olds have won it—Sun Beau and Armed.

Motors errors hand Oak Park 6-4 victory

by T. C. HART

Palatine Motors lost what could have been a good ball game Sunday night to the Oak Park Amvets, 6 to 4.

The Motors' jitterbug playing handed the game to the Amvets on a platter, the boys making errors of commission and omission in a manner that was startling.

Errors helped to get the Oak Park boys off to a four run lead in the early innings.

Then in the fifth the Oak Parkers got fumbleitis and helped the Motors tie it up.

WITH ONE RUN in and two on through errors, Wickersham of the locals crashed a sizzling homer into center field, and it was all tied up and a new game.

Then the Motors again went into their act and errored in two more runs for Oak Park, and that was the game.

The Motors got a man as far as third in the ninth through Amvet misplays but nothing happened.

Neither team did anything spectacular in the way of hits, outside of Wickersham's homer, and both made spectacular errors at the wrong time.

MAYBE IT WAS the mosquitos bothering the boys.

The little pests got so bad park director Dick Welty sent downtown for a couple of bottles of mosquito dope which were passed among the spectators. Nothing like service. Welty likes to keep his patrons comfortable and happy.

If such a thing is possible, the park will be sprayed on regular game nights as long as the mosquito season lasts.

Thistle Dodgers beat Puddle Jumpers

The Thistle Dodgers' softball team from Town and Country subdivision of Roselle defeated St. Walter's Holy Name society Puddle Jumpers Sunday at St. Walter's diamond in an extra inning game. The Puddle Jumpers took an early lead with four runs in the third, but the Thistle Dodgers tied it up in the fifth. The Jumpers again went ahead with two runs in the sixth.

After the Dodgers scored four runs in the first half of the seventh, the Jumpers came back with two runs to tie it up, 8-8. The Dodgers scored two in the first half of the tenth. The Jumpers had a man on first with two out when Jerry Nelson, captain and second baseman of the Dodgers, leaped high into the air for a line drive to end the game.

A return match is scheduled for Sunday, July 29, at 2:30 p.m. The public is invited. Both teams will welcome games with other softball teams.

Decathlon winner signed by Bears

The Chicago Bears, making ready to depart for their St. Joseph's College training camp a week from Wednesday, announced the signing today of another outstanding new player.

He is Herb Falkenburg, giant fullback from Trinity University of San Antonio, Texas, and one of the nation's top decathlon aces. The latest addition to the 1951 Bear roster is 22 years old, stands 6 feet, 3 inches, and weighs 215 pounds. He makes his home in Kingsville, Texas.

Falkenburg was one of the most coveted stars at the National Football League player selection meeting last January. This in spite of the fact that he attended a small college. Falkenburg gained national reputation last spring when he won the decathlon at the Kansas Relays. He also set a record in winning the 400 meter hurdles in the Texas Relays. Competing against such famed athletes as Bob Richards in the National AAU decathlon at Santa Barbara, Calif., several weeks ago, Falkenburg finished among the leaders, displaying exceptional speed in the sprints and 400 meters.

As a fullback, Falkenburg combines great speed with agility and power to stamp himself as one of the finest prospects to join the Bears in years.

Poole Fords whip Maryville nine, 8-1

The Arlington Legion team played Maryville academy in a non-league tilt and came out on the top end, 8-1. Bob Simmons, who previously has had control difficulties, seemed to have overcome them and did not walk a man in the seven innings he hurled. He allowed just two hits and struck out eight to keep the academy boys well in hand.

Arlington started their scoring in the second inning when Lynk, who collected three hits and made several starling plays, hit a line drive home run to left center. After the next man out, Dasonville hit a long drive to left which also went for a home run. This put Arlington in front, 2-0.

In the third Schmidt, who also had three hits, singled, stole second and scored on Lynk's second hit. Hans Schmidt again scored in the fifth to make it 4-0. He singled again, stole second and scored when Eakins was safe on an error.

The sixth proved to be the big inning when DePiero started off with a hit, Thompson singled and both scored on Schmidt's triple. Moreth lined out a double to right center to score Schmdit and Koelper singled through the box to score Moreth with the eighth and final run.

Sweet music to harness racing fans

Scholars in sports are not uncommon. Baseball had its Moe Berg, the catcher who spoke fluently practically every language known to man; boxing had its Gene Tunney, astute practical master of the sciences; and harness racing has its Neil Boardman, diminutive trainer-driver of standardbred horses, who was a college professor for 25 years.

Neil is currently racing a string of seven pacers and trotters at beautiful Sportsman's Park, the Middle West's most successful harness race track.

Boardman's career by no means took a back seat until he retired from teaching music. On the contrary, it started in his home town of Springville, N. Y. when he was in his early teens. His father was a barber and Neil used to sit in the shop and listen to the old timers talk about their horses and how fast they could trot or pace and their exciting moments in the sulky sport.

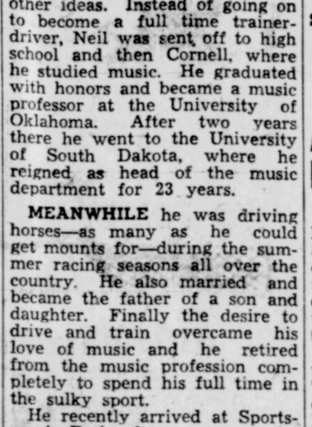

HE DEVELOPED a burning desire to drive in an actual race and would go to the county fairs asking for mounts, only to be reminded of his tender age of 15. The next July Fourth, a big day at Springville, Neil got his big chance. A friend, who drove his own horses, took sick and needed a driver fast. Neil pleaded until he got the job. It was a great surprise to his family when Neil paraded his first horse to the post, but nothing his father could do would make him give up this moment he had dreamed of for so many years. When the race was over, Neil had driven his first winner as well as his first race.

But Boardman's family had other ideas. Instead of going on to become a full time trainer-driver, Neil was sent off to high school and then Cornell, where he studied music. He graduated with honors and became a music professor at the University of Oklahoma. After two years there he went to the University of South Dakota, where he reigned as head of the music department for 23 years.

MEANWHILE he was driving horses—as many as he could get mounts for—during the summer racing seasons all over the country. He also married and became the father of a son and daughter. Finally the desire to drive and train overcame his love of music and he retired from the music profession completely to spend his full time in the sulky sport.

He recently arrived at Sportsman's Park after a successful season at Bay Meadows, Calif., closer to his own home in Shafter, Calif. He runs the stable for Owner Robert Newman, potato and cotton king of Shafter. He expects to pick up a lot of the big purse money being offered at Sportsman's Park, especially with Scotch Princess, the horse he considers to be the best of his stable.

Illini track captain Marv Berschet out for football

For 2nd straight year, University of Illinois football squad will have an Illini track captain on the roster, when varsity fall practice opens Sept. 4, at Champaign.

In 1950, Coach Ray Eliot sent out an urgent call for a punter and track captin Don Laz, Illinois' great pole vaulter, responded with booming punts that helped the Illini out of danger spots all fall.

THIS YEAR, 1951-52 track captain-elect, Marv Berschet of Arlington Heights, checks in for his third and final try at winning a varsity berth with Eliot's football team. Taking his cue from the versatile Laz, Berschet hopes to give the Illini as much help in the line as Laz gave last season as a punter.

Berschet, a star weightman for track coach Leo Johnson in the winter and spring months, has all the physical requirements to make a go of it this year in Big Ten football. The 21-year-old Arlington Heights athlete stands 6-2, and tips the scales at 217 pounds which is ideal for a Western Conference lineman.

THE WINNER of 9 athletic letters at Arlington Heights high school, has two years J-V football experience under his belt and should be ready to make the step up to varsity status.

Most members of the 1951 Illinois football roster hope to play professional football someday, but not Berschet. Bespectacled Marv, known by the nickname "Moose," is a senior in the school of agriculture and hopes to own a large beef cattle farm in the not too distant future. With the price of meat these days, that doesn't sound like a bad deal.

Coccidiosis, best known as a serious disease of poultry, also affects cattle, sheep, pigs, and other animals.

Arlington Legion loses to Park Ridge

The Arlington Legion team lost to Park Ridge last week, 5-1. Poole's Fords were held to one hit made by Bill Lynk in the second inning. Tommy Meyer pitched fine ball for Arlington, striking out four men and allowing seven hits.

Park Ridge's first run came when Klinger hit a long triple. The next man, Gibson, hit an easy grounder to Hesch and Klinger would have been an easy out at the plate, but the ball took a bad hop over Hesch's head into right field for a run.

Park Ridge's second and third runs were scored in the third inning when Dannis was safe in an error. The next man popped up to Eakins, but Norton singled. Klinger's ground ball advanced the runners to second and third, when Gibson hit a short pop fly just out of reach of Lynk, the shortstop, who was drawn in for a play at the plate. Klinger hit a home run with a man on to account for the last Park Ridge runs.

Arlington scored its lone run when Verret was safe on an error and advanced all the way around on infield outs.

Thunderbugs to run

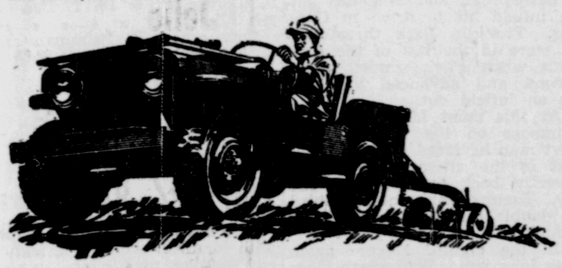

The Thunderbugs of the Three-Quarter Midget auto racing association, rained out at Admiral stadium, N. River rd., Des Plaines, Sunday night, will return for two programs this week. Some 25 cars are expected to take part in the races Sunday and Thursday evenings. Time trials will start at 7:30 with the first competitive event at 8:30.

Ted Hartley of Roanoke, Ind., winner of two of the five 25-lap feature races presented so far, will be favored to again take top honors. Smokey Smith of Mission, Kan.; Ronnie Kaplan of Chicago, and Skippy Michaels of Cicero, the other main race victors, are expected to give Hartley the stiffest opposition.

No Better Bargain Than A Want Ad For 91

Motors trim Theater, 6-2

Palatine Motors and Palatine Theatre hooked up in one of their historic battles Thursday night, and the Motors again came out on top by a 6 to 2 count.

The Motors hopped into a one run lead, then the Theatre came back with two runs, a gift from third baseman Ahrens of the Motors, who heaved the ball into center field trying to force a man at second.

The Theatre held that lead until late in the game when the Motors tied it up.

Then in the last inning the Motors put on a hitting splurge that sent four runs across the plate, and that was the ball game.

Sasso of the Motors got a little wobbly in the sixth and was promptly replaced by "fireball Heiden," who stopped a threatened Theatre rally cold with his blistering speed.

IN THE FIRST game of the evening Riviera walloped El Rando 8 to 5 when the El Rando team blew wide open in the second inning, making five errors and handing the Riviera boys four runs.

It's seldom the El Rando boys put on that kind of a dizzy show, but they got it all out of their systems in that one awful inning and played errorless ball thereafter.

They tried gamely to make up for their nightmare, finally gathering in five runs and frequently having two or three men left on bases. The steady playing Riviera boys just wouldn't give up their lead and breezed on to a comparatively easy victory.

Grabs Chinese Communist in Korea

Capturing a Chinese Communist was the big news this week in a letter from Cpl. Kenneth Hotopp to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hotopp of Dundee rd., Wheeling.

"I was taking two Korean laborers who were carrying a roll of barbed wire up to the top of a mountain. As I glanced up the trail, I saw a Chinese Communist standing there, looking down at me; he said something to me in Chinese.

"I motioned him to come down to where I was standing. He didn't have a rifle or burp gun, so I wasn't worried. I searched him to make sure he didn't have any hand grenades, then marched him a mile back to headquarters.

"I'm the only man in my company to capture a prisoner when all alone."

Ken enlisted in August, 1950, going overseas in March of this year. His address is Cpl. Kenneth Hotopp, RA 16335537, I Co. 3rd Bn 32nd Inf. Regt., APO 7, % PM, San Francisco, Cal.

Minnie Minoso does OK with Music Maids

The Music Maids, still in the thick of the battle for second place in the National girls baseball league, meet the Checashers in a single game Friday night at Admiral stadium, N. River rd. Des Plaines. The game will begin at 8:30.

Saturday night the Maids take on the Rockolas in a double header and Tuesday evening the league champion Queens, on top of the pack so far this season, will supply the opposition in another twin bill. All double headers at Admiral stadium start at 8 o'clock.

The Music Maids last week signed Betty Chapman, the first negro to play in the National girls baseball league. Betty, who lives in Glencoe, is batting over .500 so far and made three of the Maids' victories last week possible with her timely hitting. She is receiving a great ovation everywhere she appears and has been tabbed Miss Minnie Minoso.

Highland Park back to rent control

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods has announced that the city of Highland Park will remain under federal rent control. This reverses a decision of the former City Council and honors the request of the present body.

According to a statement made by Mayor A. Gordon Humphrey, formerly of Palatine: 'Under the commission form of government any action taken by the city council does not become completely effective until 30 days after its final adoption. Within that time electors may protest the action. If the protest by a number equal to 10 per cent of the votes cast for mayor at the last election is filed with the city clerk the council must reconsider the action. If it is not completely rescinded the city council must submit the question to a referendum at a special or general election."

In regard to the rent control matter the mayor declared:

"The last city council passed a resolution finding no longer a shortage of rental housing accommodations to require control. The resolution was passed April 23.

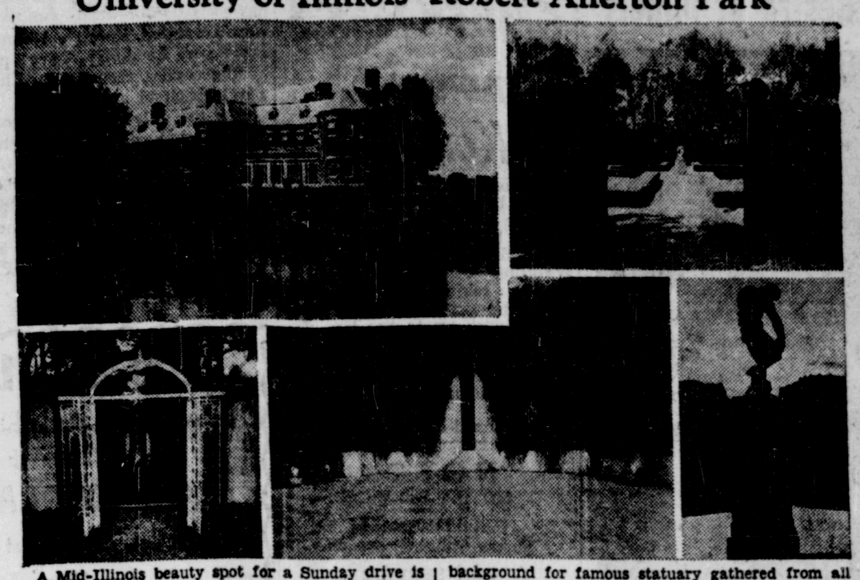

"Within 30 days after, the city clerk received a petition protesting the action, signed by more than 500 people. Therefore the present city council was in a position to either rescind the action or submit the question to the citizens at a special election which would have cost the city between $1,500 and $1,800.

"Because of the uncertainty of the action to be taken by congress in regard to rent control, the present city council was unwilling to incur the cost of a special election at the present time. Consequently there was no alternative but to rescind the action of the old city council."

University of Illinois' Robert Allerton Park

A Mid-Illinois beauty spot for a Sunday drive is Robert Allerton park of the University of Illinois, located near Monticello and 26 miles from the University's Urbana-Champaign campus. 50,000 visited it last year. Roads into the park are marked from Illinois state highway 47 on the north and from state highway 105 as it passes through Monticello.

This beautiful country estate, with outstanding examples of landscape gardening which provide background for famous statuary gathered from all over the world, was given to the University in 1946 by Robert Allerton. It serves as a public park and a conference center. Here also is a memorial 4-H club camp. The gift included also some 4,500 acres of farmland, income from which supports the park.

Shown above are Allerton house, conference center and therefore not open to tourists, and scenes from the gardens, which are open at all times. There also is a picnic area.

boil. Stir lightly so peaches will not be broken; add butter. Remove from fire and cool; then chill. When ready to serve put filling into cake crust and top with whipped cream. Garnish with sliced peaches and cherries. Note: This crust may be used with all berries and fruits.

Eyes on Farm

For farm people who need glasses, observe the following tips: Get sturdy frames with bows over the ears for support. Ask for dark plastic frames if you work outdoors most of the time. Get gold frames for excellent service. Procure shatter-prof lenses if your work is liable to bring your eyeglasses into contact with flying objects or particles; and, if you do get such lenses, have a lighter, thinner pair for your "dress" glasses.

Electric farm show of P.S. Co. at many fairs

The electric farm show of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, which has been a feature of northern Illinois county fairs for the past four years, will be featured at eleven 1951 fairs this summer with a completely new exhibit, it was announced by the utility.

The eleven fairs and their dates are: McHenry County, Woodstock, July 26, 27, 28, 29; Lake County, Wauconda, August 2, 3, 4 ,5; Kane County, Elgin, August 2, 3, 4, 5; Kankakee County, Kankakee, August 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11; Livingston County, Pontiac, August 7, 8, 9; Whiteside County, Morrison, August 15, 16, 17, 18; Stephenson County, Freeport, August 22, 23, 24, 25; Will County, Peotone, August 24, 25, 26; Marshall-Putnam County, Henry, August 28, 29, 30, 31; Grundy County, Mazon, August 31, September 1, 2, 3; and, DeKalb County, Sandwich, September 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.

With "better methods" the theme, the new display, especially produced for county fairs, shows how electricity saves both dollars and labor for the farmer.

HOUSED in a "big top" tent, 60x60 feet, the exhibit features actual electric equipment, working models and blow-up photographs demonstrating new ideas in feed handling, crop drying and barn cleaning.

The feed handling equipment consists of a model unit including grain bins, corn crib, conveyors, package type conditioning unit and automatic feeding devices. Based on ideas developed through the utility's cooperative program with the University of Illinois and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, it will be the first time such a complete feed handling unit has been shown in northern Illinois.

This second exhibit featuring handling of farm materials with emphasis on crop drying and barn cleaning will consist of models, full size equipment and pictures showing installation methods and results which have been obtained.

Weekly recipe

It won't be long until the 1951 peach crop will be harvested. There are many ways to use fresh peaches, and one of my favorite ways is in a peach cake. Here are two recipes, one for cake, the other for the filling.

Peach Cake

1 cup all purpose flour
1 tsp. double acting baking powder
4 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
4 tbsp. Butter
¼ tsp. soda
1 tbsp. water
1-3 cup buttermilk
1 egg yolk

Method: Blend first five ingredients together as for biscuits. Dissolve soda in water and add to buttermilk. Mix well and add to first mixture. Roll dough out to ¼ inch thickness and place in 9-inch pie tin (as for pie). Prick well with fork. Bake in preheated oven at 450 degrees for 9 or 10 minutes, (golden brown). Cool before using.

Filling

4 cups sliced fresh peaches
2 tbsp. Butter
½ cup sugar
4 tbsp flour
½ cup water

Method: Pour water over peaches and bring to a boil, only. Do not cook peaches. Mix sugar and flour and sprinkle over hot peaches; stir and bring to

This chart has been developed in cooperation with the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross, the State of Illinois Office of Civil Defense and the Chicago Civil Defense Corps.

3 DAYS ONLY

February fire all forgotten as Heights A&P readies for Tuesday opening

The signs on the windows of the Arlington A&P store which will stage its reopening after the disastrous fire of several months ago, whet the appetite of the general public for the many innovations in merchandizing that will be found there when the store is thrown open Tuesday morning for business. There has been some delay in getting the building ready, but with everything set, the company is as pleased as will be the general public that the A&P super market is again in operation in Arlington Heights. A full page display advertisement in this issue lists special bargains and prizes for opening week.

Purple Heart vet to head A&P store reopening Tuesday

What does it take to manage a Super Market capable of feeding thousands of Arlington Hts residents each week?

Talk to John Andrews, holder of the Purple Heart citation, who is busy preparing to open A&P Food stores' Super Market next Tuesday morning at 114 W. Campbell street. You find it takes quite a few things, some of which would seem at first glance to have little connection with the business of ordering, displaying and selling food.

Andrews, who was discharged from the infantry section of the U. S. Army following World War II, is typical of what it takes, to manage a modern "super" which may contain nearly 4,000 different food items and can require nearly half a hundred men and women to operate. It's a far cry from the days of the one-man store with the cracker barrel.

From Andrews' own experience with A&P over the past 11 years, it would seem the manager must be a master of many trades and have a smattering of knowledge in a few professions also.

But he must also function successfully in the fields of diplomacy, public relations, education, research and engineering.

Andrews has his hands full these days supervising the crew that is stocking the W. Campbell street Super Market for its grand opening next Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. By opening day, he will have stock worth nearly $150,000 on his hands.

To sell that stock to consumers at the peak of its quality and freshness in accordance with A&P's low-price policy is Andrews' prime responsibility.

Protecting the perishables in this big stock will be a veritable power plant housing several motors required to operate hundreds of feet of refrigerated display cases and special low-temperature rooms for the preparation and storage of meat, fish, poultry, produce and other items.

Andrews himself has just completed a special course for managers which equips them to take over larger stores.

Managers work along with colleges and various government agencies in research projects designed to determine customer preference and develop better marketing methods.

Andrews is also active in the American Legion and other community activities.

"Our consumers are very much quality minded," he says, "but they know and appreciate value too."

Andrews started with A&P as a part time clerk at Waukegan. He soon arose to assistant manager and served in that capacity until he entered the Army in 1943. Following his discharge in January, 1946, after two years in the Pacific (where he was wounded at Luzon) he returned to A&P and recently was transferred here from Barrington. He is married to the former Charlotte Kurowski of Libertyville and they have one daughter, born eights weeks ago.

Renew Usefulness

Marred and dented chairs, tables and odd pieces of furniture that seem to fit nowhere can frequently be made into new and attractive household additions. Repair them, if necessary; sand the surface smooth and apply enamel undercoat. Over this, flow on a coating of colorful enamel. If the design of the piece is good, your final coat can contrast with the wall against which it will stand. This will give it emphasis. If it is useful, but not as beautiful as you might wish, camouflage its shortcomings by painting it to match its background.

Favorite Turkey

The Brbad Breasted Bronze variety of turkey is the outstanding popular favorite with turkey growers, according to the U. S. department of agriculture.

Bensenville Home festival slated for this Sunday

The children and aged of the Bensenville Home have been busy these summer days preparing for their annual festival and homecoming Sunday, July 29.

Festival activities will begin with morning worship at 11. In the shade of the huge oak trees on the Bensenville Home campus, the Rev. Gustav A. Pahl of St. Micolai church, Chicago, will speak from the large outdoor stage, specially erected for the Festival.

Rev. Harold W. Hohman, pastor of Peace church, and Rev. Edward Bergstraesser, pastor of St. John's church, Bensenville, will participate in this service. Miss Cora Warnecke, 173 S. Center, Bensenville, will be the pianist. The ushering committee includes Henry Bollman, Route 2; Raymond Olsen, 235 S. Center; and Everett Fischer, 131 N Addison, all of Bensenville.

Hundreds of other volunteer workers from Evangelical and Reformed churches in this area will assist in the various activities and stands to make the day a happy and successful one for the 75 children and 50 aged in the Home as well as an additional 60 youngsters in foster homes. Co-chairmen of the festival are William J. Katzberg of Glen Ellyn and Elmer H. Tiedemann of Elmhurst, both members of the Home Board of Directors.

LADIES AUXILIARY will lend a "home touch" to the day's festivities by serving hot dinners from 11:30 to 2 in the Children's Dining Room and Gymnasium. While their dining room is being used for festival guests, the children of the Home will be served sandwiches and cake in their dormitories by the Peace Women's Guild of Bensenville, whose president is Mrs. Alex Marxen, Bensenville.

Refreshments of all kinds will be served throughout the day from gaily decorated booths along the campus walks. Hamburgers will be sold from a stand sponsored by the West Suburban Federation under the chairmanship of Oscar Dreusicke, 735 S. Quincy, Hinsdale. The large and ever popular candy stand will be managed by Mr. and Mrs. Katzberg of Glen Ellyn. All merchandise is donated by the Katzberg's and their friends, and all proceeds are turned over to the Home.

French fries will be sold from a booth in charge of Robert Schmidt of Chicago, an alumnus of the Home. The ice cream stand will be under the supervision of E. L. Griese of Northbrook, and the Nazareth Brotherhood of Chicago will manage the soft drink stand.

BEGINNING at noon, top-notch dartball teams from various areas will participate in an interesting tournament. The play-offs will take place after the 3:30 program. The Rev. Albert G. Kautz, pastor of Immanuel church, Bensenville, is in charge of the dartball event. Rev. Kautz is a member of the National Council of the Churchmen's Brotherhood.

Highlight of the festival is the children's program at 3:30 p.m., written and directed by Mrs. Rosemary Musil of Elmhurst. The dramatic pageant, "Through the Years," will have an historic flavor depicting the early need for a social welfare program as white man's struggle with the Indians began to create problems of homelessness. The production will touch on various periods of American history and trace developments in the social welfare field, concluding with a portrayal of an actual children's worship service in a modern institution as regularly conducted by superintendent of the Bensenville Home, Rev. Alvin J. Munsterman.

Combined talents of the children and aged of the Home will be used in the pageant, and several foster home children and alumni will come to Bensenville to participate in the program. President of the home board of directors, the Rev. William L. Moenkhaus, pastor of Kloeckner Memorial church, 818 N. Central, will also take part in this program.

A GROUP of men from St. Paul's church, Palatine, will usher at the afternoon program. Rev. Glenn G. Gumm, pastor, is a member of the home board of directors.

The ladies service committee will sponsor a fancy work booth with many pieces of handwork for sale. Mrs. H. Magers, 171 S. Mason, Bensenville, is secretary of the organization. Mrs. Claude Polivka, 416 S. Center, Bensenville, is also a member of the ladies service committee.

In charge of parking will be men from St. Paul's church, Bloomingdale. The parking committee includes Charles Franzen, Bloomingdale; Earle Tucker, Elmhurst; Chester Kolze and Edwin Duntemann, Bartlett.

NOVELTIES will be sold from a stand managed by Alvin Munsterman Jr., Bensenville.

Richard Thomas, 409 Alexander blvd., Elmhurst, will be the grounds manager.

William A. Ernsting, 197 S. Mason, Bensenville, will be on the committee in charge of ticket sales. Serving on the finance committee are Ewald Lang, Bensenville; E. W. Gieseke, Roselle; and Erwin O. Elbert, Roselle.

Mrs. Kathryn Gilliam, Bensenville, is director of social service at the Home. Mrs. Edna Jeffers of the Home Social Service Department will be in charge of tagging at the festival. Mrs. Paul Brandau, 401 N. 6th, Maywood; Mrs. Fred Braun, Mrs. Erwin Knaack and Mrs. Edward Schultz of Bensenville, are on the home secretarial staff and will assist in the offices and at information desks on festival day. Edward Schultz, Bensenville, will meet trains and buses at the Bensenville stations with the Home station wagon to provide transportation direct to the Home.

Jerry Schramm, 111 Larch, Elmhurst, will have charge of the sound service for the festival. Thomas Munsterman, Bensenville, will assist him.

AT THE ANNUAL meeting of the Bensenville Home Society on May 8, 1951, plans for a new building for aged were discussed and approved. Chairman Moenkhaus and Superintendent Munsterman explained that the nearby Douglas, or O'Hare airport, is to be moved farther away from the campus than originally planned, and the runways turned so that incoming and outgoing planes will not fly directly over the Home. They also explained that the railroad will not be relocated and cross Bensenville Home property.

In view of the pressing need for the care of infirm aged, the first unit of an infirmary for 25 or more residents is to be constructed on the south end of the campus in the grove. It will be so planned and built that it can be enlarged later. This building will not greatly interfere with the observance of future festivals in the grove as the booths can be rearranged accordingly. Of special interest to festival visitors will be the markers in the grove, which will indicate the boundaries of the new old people's home.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT has been made as to the date that construction will begin, but if conditions permit, it may be started in the Fall. An old people's home has been established at Freeport, Ill., and will be opened in the near future. Property has also been acquired at Peotone for the construction of a new unit there in accordance with the Home's modern plan of decentralization of services for the aged.

Final event of festival day will be a concert by the Bensenville municipal band at 5:30 p.m. under the direction of Lynn Huffman.

The Joseph Murphy family of Evanston, former parishioners of Rev. Munsterman, will bring their ponies to Bensenville to entertain the children.

Mr. Martin doesn't want me to speak in superlatives. This is a tall order! Why is it? Because Mr. Martin owns the Alfred Martin Hairdressing Salon which is a superlative place.

The Salon is very nice — impeccably clean. Tastefully decorated. It's also a restful place—coffee and tea are served, for instance. Mr. Martin was formerly with Charles of the Ritz at the Drake and before that he was affiliated with a well-known Paris beauty house. His operators are of the best. Just tell me, how can I avoid superlatives? Sorry, Mr. M.

Do your wash on Wednesdays! The first person who thought up the idea of putting 20 washers in a building and then taking in washing was somewhat of a genius. I think he should be placed in the same class as the man who invented the safety pin.

Think of the money saved by young newlyweds. The convenience to apartment dwellers, people traveling or vacationing, people who just haven't the cash to invest in a washer. What about three days of rainy weather? We've surely been having them—You can dry your clothes here, too.

The Wala Washerette on Northwest highway opened January 15. Like all new businesses, they're awfully anxious to please. Here's a picture of their service. Throw the wash in the door (please get a check for it), go about your business, and pick it up at your convenience. In your absence, Wala will sock, wash in hot, soapy water, (they furnish the soap) bleach, blue, tint, dry and fold.

Or take the wash in and wait. Plenty of chairs. I saw a customer reading, one knitting and one holding a new baby.

Oh yes, why wash on Wednesday? They're not as busy that day. Open most evenings.

How about an icy pink lemonade which contains no calories? The drinks we lavishly consume in this weather contain one heck of a lot of calories. You may be a diabetic or on a diet under the supervision of a physician—but you surely get thirsty just the same.

Lohr's drug store has a new and complete line of some sugar-free, some salt-free, some calorie-free foods. I don't think there's a wider selection in town of fruits, vegetables, flour, bread, soups, syrups, etc., which may be used by diabetics, high blood pressure folks and others just trying to view the bathroom scales with more pleasure.

Look over the display—science has really performed miracles.

I wish I'd seen these placemats first. I hadn't even discovered the Evergreen Gift Shop when I bought my straw mats this year. And straw mats are definitely wrong for the fall and winter.

Miss Bennett has placements in high fashion colors which look like that fine expensive linen. You know, the kind you never can get grease spots out of. The Evergreen mats, though, are made of soft flexible plastic. Naturally, no washing and they'll look proper all seasons. 70 cents apiece with coasters to match. 8 for $1.

We used to do it with cakes of ice—keep the chocolates cool I mean. My very first job was working in a candy store. It was in the summertime in Maine, and I was a junior in high school.

We had to be awfully careful to keep the candy cases closed, and the janitor ran in and out with ice. Even so, in the hottest weather our best line was discontinued. The chocolates became an unappetizing gray and no one would buy them.

Fannie Mae has licked this problem. She makes up a batch of chocolate butter creams and immediately freezes them solid. You take them home, thaw them out, and oh, oh, are they good. Arlington Heights Pharmacy, 25 W. Davis, have them exclusively—in a gleaming new freezer.

Did your magic key work? Mine didn't, but a lot of them did. I'm still trying though. Arlington Heights Certified Food Store is a real lively outfit. It's always up to something.

This deal with magic key and coupons (fully explained in their ad) may win me a Hotpoint ironer. Every week a customer draws the name of some winner. Last week it was Mr. [illegible] of Arlington Hts., who clipped the lucky coupon from the paper. Find the scissors and give it a try, folks. The magic key, if the right one, will entitle you to some free groceries.

Someday I hope to meet Mr. Sauerland of Sauerland Florists. His friendly clerk always tells me he's just left or expected at some indefinite time when I go out on S. State.

Now I know why he's been so busy. The new hobby shop. Imagine, a fully stocked hobby shop in addition to a fully-stocked florist shop. Wonder how he got in the hobby business? Does he make model boats? Hey, maybe there's no such person. But there certainly is a fine new hobby shop out there.

Save a dollar on every member of the family. My husband contends I save a buck here only to spend it there. Fun though.

Hartmann Shoe Store is handing you a dollar for every pair of shos you buy. Except those on sale, and that's another deal you should look into. Summer shoes for all the family marked way down.

On this dollar off, though, it applies on all shoes — even the Child Life line. That's a line! Orpedic shoes (for toe-rs in and toe-rs out), regular shoes, non-scuff shoes with sharkskin tips, etc. Just bring your shoe problems around. Child Life has met most of them before and probably solved them.

Why not get the kid's school shoes now?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That the healing Christ, Truth, is as practical and operative today for all mankind, as when it was practised by Jesus and his followers, will be explained in next Sunday's services in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The title of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, July 29, is "TRUTH".

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (26: 1,2): "We have a strong city; salvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks. Open ye the gates, that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth may enter in."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include the following:

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God . . . All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made" (John 1: 1,3).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Unless an ill is rightly met and fairly overcome by Truth, the ill is never conquered . . . What God cannot do, man need not attempt. If God heals not the sick, they are not healed, for no lesser power equals the infinite All-power; but God, Truth, Life, Love, does heal the sick through the prayer of the righteous" (p. 231).

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

There seems to be a new interest developing in Eleanor of Acquitane. In a library recently, I noted two recent works, side by side, on this most famous of all women in the middle ages. Perhaps "most famous" is not the best expression; there are well-known women of the church in this period. But Eleanor is the only outstanding woman outside the church.

She was the wife of two of the outstanding kings of the 12th century, mother of three more — married to Louis VII and Henry I, hersons were Henry II, Richard the Lion-Hearted and John of Anjou. In the latter thirteenth century her grandchildren were kings of England, France, and Holy Roman Emperor.

As a patroness of the arts, Eleanor's reputation has, shall we say, suffered because of the attitudes which many have adopted toward "the courts of love" which she primarily stimulated. Curtis Howe Walker of Vanderbilt University, who writes one of the recent books, thinks that much of the gossip which surrounded Eleanor was unfounded.

Love, in that day, was mostly a worship from afar. The court of love was more a matter of talk than of anything else —indeed, it was a public meeting, in which clever repartee was more the rule than anything wise or noble or encouraging. It was the medieval lady's afternoon tea.

Of course, Eleanor did say at one of them that love between husband and wife was impossible.

But then, you must remember that "medieval marital relations, far from being the sentimental attachments which romance depicts, were marriages of convenience and were brutally enforced. Young and tender girls were compelled to marry rough and often lecherous husbands. Proverbial "May and January" matches were common. From this tyranny, the young maid or the young widow had practically only one recourse, to enter a convent and take the veil." (Thompson, "Economic History of the Middle Ages").

When Eleanor's marriage to Louis was dissolved because it was learned that their relationship was too close to meet with the approval of canon law, she was pursued by five aspirants to be her husband, each determined to lock her up in his castle until she agreed to marry him, for she was the richest heiress in Europe.

If a rich widow desired to continue living in the world, the world was decidedly against her. Marriage was business in the middle ages—second only to warfare. Nobody cared what the girl or her mother thought of the idea, fathers and husbands planned to make advantageous alliances, or to escape obligations to an overlord, or to gain land, or be able to keep it.

Walker's is an interesting and highly readable account of an interesting period and a very interesting woman. The other recent work, by Amy Kelley, I have not read, but I have heard it recommended.

Rev. [illegible]der Frederick G. Weidner, 79, holds a record at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, Phila.: 75 years a congregation member; 50 years of teaching Sunday school; 50 years in the church choir; and 50 years as a trustee.

We're Feeling The Squeeze

Rising newsprint costs, increasing from $56 a ton to $126, are forcing Paddock Publications to raise newsstand sale price of all editions to 10c. This will take effect the 2nd of August, beginning with the August 3 issue.

We've taken a licking. Just ten years ago newsprint cost Paddock Publications $35 a week. That has now risen to $260 a week. Then too, production costs have risen. No need to go into those. We all have enough headaches as it is.

It boils down to this. It now costs 23c to publish one copy of the paper. In 1940 the cost was 14c. In 1945, when the present newsstand price of 7c was established, production costs had risen to 17c.

Thus, you 5,600 newsstand buyers will still be "making" 13c on the deal. Your paper will still be just as big, will contain just as many top notch features and stories, and indications point to even more news each week in the near future.

DON'T TELL THE BOSS, but I'll let you subscribers in on a tip. Though yearly rates haven't been raised as yet, don't be too surprised if same happens in about two months. If I wanted to save a buck I'd pay up another . . . sh . . . here he comes.

Effective Thursday, August 2, single copy price of all eight editions of Paddock Publications will be 10c. This will affect both newsstand and "route boy" sales.

Business block to replace Palatine's 'hole in the ground'

Roy LaLonde, Palatine realtor, announced this week that negotiations for the purchase of Palatine's "black hole" had been completed and it is expected that before many months a commercial building will be erected thereon with an adjoining parking lot.

Rumors that the Jewel Tea is interested in the project have not been confirmed by that company, nor by the purchaser, Chas. Hansen, of Chicago who represents the real owner.

Paddock Publications has learned however that two months ago the real estate department of the Jewel Tea Co. was interested. The realty broker of that company did not succeed in closing a deal for the purchase of the property. Since then the company has not contacted the present owner nor has Hansen approached the food firm.

An official of the Jewel Tea said Wednesday that while his company at one time considered the corner as a possible site there is no grounds at present for saying that a Jewel store is coming to Palatine.

The property involved is at the northwest corner of Wilson and Brockway sts. For 20 years it has been only a "hole in the ground." It was excavated just prior to the 1930 depression by Walter Swanson. The Palatine State Bank was supposed to have been a tenant and the proposed building was designed for that purpose.

The property was originally owned by the Schirding family and a large residence occupied it until its supposed sale to Swanson. During the depression the property reverted to the Schirding family. Henry Schirding, son of its original owner, now a resident of California, signed the transfer deed. It is understood that the consideration was $25,000.

The excavation extends 132 feet along Wilson street. The basement will probably not be used and the excavation will no doubt be filled in, something that should have occurred years ago.

The possible use of the property by a food store is expected to rejuvenate the Palatine northside business section which has never recovered from the closing of the Bothwell street crossing.

A LARGE garage has been erected by Elmer Rhode on the west side of Brockway street and early next year it is expected that St. Theresa church will start construction of a four room school in the same block on its present parking lot west of the church.

The present home of the library will be remodeled into a rectory for the pastor of the church, while the Plate home on the corner will become the home of the nuns who will conduct the school. There remains a 66x132 lot facing Brockway st. and adjoining the "store" property which will be used for parking.

Fred Breitling, a new resident of Palatine, is understood to have had a part in the land's purchase. He is in the business of erecting commercial buildings and owns two stores rented to Jewel. He erected the Palatine National Tea building on Chicago ave. and has also erected Jewel Tea stores in Crystal Lake and Evanston. He would not admit any financial interest in the purchase of "the hole."

Several new historical novels of interest are now on the rental shelf of Arlington Heights library.

Paul I. Wellman, author of "The Chain" and "The Walls of Jericho," has a new book called, "The Iron Mistress." It is a frontier story, based on the life of James Bowie, fortune hunter, soldier, duelist, inventor of the knife that bears his name and one of the greatest heroes of the Alamo. The knife was his invention and constant companion, his "Iron Mistress," to which he sometimes ascribed supernatural powers. His story is that of the rapidly advancing frontier in Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, where history was made with incredible speed.

Another novel of early adventure in the Southwest is "The Rose and the Flame" by Jonreed Lauritzen. In the spring of 1680 a Spanish caravan set out from Santa Fe through the dangerous, unexplored wilderness of the New World. The exiled Duke of Toledo was marching against the throne of Spain, and the fateful journey was filled with beauty and horror, love and hatred, courage and fear.

"I Am Lidia" by Naomi Lane Babson tells the story of a young woman's pilgrimage from Massachusetts to Montana, which lasted from 1856 to 1868. During those 12 years in which she traveled, first in a theatrical troupe and later in a wagon train, she had to forget all the gentility of her former quiet life. In this novel Miss Babson gives a very real picture of the era of pioneers, as well as a sensitive portrait of the woman.

Clever Clover 4-H club

The Clever Clover 4-H club of Arlington Heights held its last meeting July 19, at the Wilson school.

Demonstrations were given on foods by Pat Henning and Marlene Krambeer and on clothing by Judith Koelling.

A club picnic will be held at Lake Geneva July 24.

Plans were made for Local Achievement night at Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, July 26, at 8 p.m.

The County Achievement Day will be held in Des Plaines July 31.

Marlene Krambeer was selected as the club's candidate for 4-H queen.

Potent Malaria

It has been estimated that 500 million people in the world suffer from malaria. Many of these, living in tropical countries with a low standard of living, receive no treatment whatever.

Sewing Susies 4-H club

The Sewing Susies 4-H club of Arlington Heights held their last meeting July 23, at the home of Doris Rudolph. Marlene Krambeer, a member of the Clever Clover club, was a visitor.

The Sewing Susies and the Clever Clovers will hold their local Achievement Day July 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of Faith church.

The garments which will be modeled that night along with foods which will be displayed will also be modeled and displayed at the County Achievement Day in Des Plaines July 31.

At this meeting the girls also planned their booth which will be on display at the County Achievement Day and at the 4-H Fair, which will be held at the Arlington Race Track grounds August 10, 11 and 12.

Doris Rudolph and Audrey Gronert gave a demonstration on flower arrangement.

Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money

Arlington, Palatine, Mt. Prospect raise over $2,000 for Ohio flood sufferers

January 29, 1937—The first refugees from Cincinnati and Louisville flooded districts have arrived in Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison from Louisville are at the home of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Prosser. Another couple from the same city are on their way here.

Mr. Harrison says that words cannot describe conditions in Louisville. His wife has not yet recovered from the shock of her experience and the regret of loosing all of their newly purchased furniture and other belongings. They were only recently married.

Arlington Heights people are ready to do their part in aiding the flood victims of the Ohio River valley. Early this week the local Red Cross committee began accepting contributions, and by Tuesday noon, the $150 mark had been passed.

A drive for funds for the relief of the flood sufferers was organized in Palatine Tuesday night when an organization to handle the drive for funds and clothing was perfected in record time.

One week later, Arlington Heights had contributed $1201, Palatine $650, and Mt. Prospect $308.

New school planned for Arlington Heights

January 15, 1937—For a long time people of Arlington Heights have been keenly aware that some time soon it would be absolutely necessary to do something about a better housing for the school children of the grade school.

Considerable saving to the community will be obtained in having this building erected as a PWA project, for if approved first by the voters and second by the United States Government, the government will make an outright grant of almost half of the money necessary to erect this building.

How Wheeling school gym got its start

January 8, 1937—In order that this district may have a much needed school gymnasium and community recreation hall annexed to our present school building, the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce has donated $4,000 cash and a pledge of $2,000 to be paid during the next five years, and the Wheeling Fire Department have donated $200 cash and pledged 25 per cent of the net proceeds of their annual dance and Wheeling Day until the building is paid for.

To make it possible to take advantage of these generous offers it will be necessary for this school district to vote a bond issue in the amount of $4,500 to provide necessary cash in hand until above pledges are fulfilled.

Carl Hammerl comes to Mt. Prospect bank

January 15, 1937—Carl Hammerl, of Des Plaines, was elected cashier of the Mt. Prospect State bank Tuesday evening, following the annual stockholders meeting at a meeting of the board of directors.

The stockholders after listening to the annual report of the institution re-elected the directors as follows:

Fred W. Busse, George Busse, William Busse Jr., G. A. Connor, George H. Geils, C. H. Gewecke, William Seegers and Albert Wille.

Subdivider walked out from Arlington village board meeting

January 8, 1937—Consideration of the plat of the new garden estates subdivision was the main business before the Arlington Heights village board meeting Monday night.

The plat was considered at the start of the board meeting and again at the finish and the discussion was only ended when the subdividers rolled up their plats and walked out with the remark that they guessed "Arlington Heights didn't want improvements."

The discussion centered chiefly about whether or not a system of sewers and water mains should be laid in the new subdivision.

Mt. Prospect gets new fire equipment

January 15, 1937—The Mount Prospect Rural Fire Protection League expects delivery of its new fire truck Friday.

The new truck is a Darley Champion and is said to be the latest in fire fighting equipment. It is equipped with a 450-gallon booster tank and all necessary equipment to make it the last word in modern fire fighting apparatus.

Woman's club celebrates fiftieth anniversary

January 1, 1937—In the 1936-37 year book of the Arlington Heights Woman's club Reciprocity Day, Jan. 6, 1937, was designated by the program committee for the official observance of the fiftieth anniversary of that organization. This observance occurs next week Wednesday when the musical numbers will be by the seventh district chorus of which Mrs. Sebre M. Baldwin is director. The club will entertain as guests upon that occasion the official boards of women's clubs of the district.

Hope springs eternal in the heart of Hart, editor 'Tales of the St.'

March 12, 1937—"Hope springs eternal in the human breast." How true are the words of the poet. That eternal hope is what makes a fellow sit out in hot sun for hours at a time trying to catch fish; walk through the fields all day hoping to shoot a pheasant; invest in new ventures after old ones have flopped; and it's what gives a fellow courage at Arlington Park, after trying in vain to pick a winner to believe that the next race will be different and that this time he'll land a winner.

And it's what gave Palatine people confidence when the Pal theatre opened a few months ago to believe that here at last was a Palatine venture that was destined for success.

We had enthusiastically promoted the old PLZ & W Ry. and whopped it up with a grand and glorious celebration when the first train made the run from Palatine to Deer Grove.

We had also invested in stock in a proposed manufacturing plant which was to put Palatine on the map, but the ground for which plant was never broken.

We have whole heartedly welcomed other institutions to Palatine with flowers, good wishes and flaming headlines; only to see them fold up and fade away.

But hope springs eternal; and so we forgot all our losses and disappointments of the past and when the new theatre was proposed for Palatine we again wound up the old enthusiasm, dusted off the flaming headlines, practiced up the boys that could play instruments and formed a band, got out the red fire, had a big and enthusiastic parade, a grand preview and in other ways showed our approval and appreciation of the fact that Palatine was at last to have a real movie theatre.

All that whoopee was the night before; then came the morning after; suddenly the news flashed over town that the new Pal theatre was closed, a big truck was hauling away the furnishings and equipment of the new play house, and also hauling away once more our hopes and dreams of greater things for Palatine.

But "Hope springs eternal;" we'll forget all the disappointments of the past once more and look through rosy glasses toward the future. All set, what's next on the program?

National Bank opens

February 12, 1937—Workmen are busy these days in putting the finishing touches on the banking rooms of the Arlington Heights National bank, which will open its doors to the public on Saturday, February 20.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

People generally define hermits as men or women who live in a little hut far up on the mountainside, and hold no intercourse with the rest of mankind. Or they may think of them as people who retreat to caves and live on wild honey, berries, bird eggs, and such things. Yet each of us, in a sense, a hermit in his own right.

You and I know things about ourselves that we wouldn't dare to impart to a living soul. Things we have thought about, done, seen and heard. The times we were brutally hurt by a careless remark. The dreams we have, our secret longings and hopes. All of the thousands of ideas, fears, hatreds, loves which move through our conscious mind but are locked forever in the secret chambers of our heart. This life we live within the outward shell of pretense, makes us hermits.

Like a guard outside a prison cell, fear stands watch. You do not say what you think, express the feelings you have, or let the world know how abused, misunderstood and overworked you think you are. You build your hermit's cabin about yourself, and fear stands guard that none may know.

Your real, inner self, thrives upon obscurity. The world, you tell yourself would not understand—and you are right. It can not understand, because each of our hermit lives lived within our shell, is different.

There is no escape from our hermitage except in oblivion. That is why it is vital that we furnish our hermitage with unselfish thoughts, beautiful ideas, which will encourage and strengthen us, and keep us from becoming unhappy or lonely.

No one but you can ever know exactly what your hermitage is like. We can never really know or understand exactly how other hermits live, but we may be permitted, by observing the lives of others, to get a peek through the window.

Most of us resemble little children inside. We never grow up inwardly. We are always dreaming about gratifying some wish, or pitying and praising ourselves. Some of us live in a beautiful fairyland, such as gardeners, artists, musicians, a fairyland that none but us shall ever know. Others live lives of sensuality, of mental sin and spiritual degradation. Still others live in constant fear, despair and hopelessness. Some of us are tyrants, constantly scheming to bend others to our will. Perhaps a few among us live inner lives of love and tolerance for their fellowmen, good and generous lives.

Thus are the hermitages of the world inhabited.

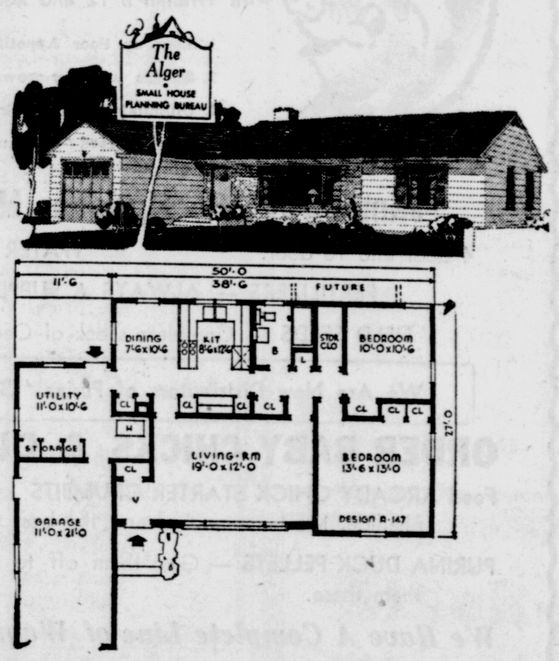

Leonardo Liked to Experiment

Some of the world's greatest paintings have been gradually fading through the years because the colors were mixed with egg yolk. A notable example is the famous "Last Supper" of Leonardo da Vinci, who liked to experiment with the durability of paints.

In the future

The newest in fashion notes comes from a Walpole, Mass., firm that is marketing a line of polka-dotted diapers to dress up the baby for special occasions . . . From Madison, Wis., comes news of an air filter that removes odors as well as dust particles. It's designed for hot-air heating units in homes, offices and plants . . . A new chemical compound, applied like paint, is made of pulverized red cedar and concentrated red cedar oil, and is designed to deodorize clothes and moth-proof closets, chests and drawers . . . For waterproofing basements, a new compound of Portland cement and copper dioxide dries to a hard, porcelain-like finish.

New Ideas in Homes

THE ALGER, though small in area, contains all the features necessary in any home, whether large or small.

All the rooms of the Alger are on one floor without basement, or second floor. In addition, a third bedroom can be installed by a simple conversion of the storage closet into a connecting corridor.

The first floor slab rests on a gravel fill, with the superstructure of frame with siding, except that the front living room wall is faced with stone or face brick.

Storage space is generously supplied, by 12 closets in all, distributed in every room. These twelve closets range in type from wardrobe closets in the bedroom to large storage closets in the utility room.

The dimensions of the Alger are 50 feet by 26 feet. Floor area is planned to be 1163 square feet. The cubage of this house totals 14,405 cubic feet.

For further information about THE ALGER, write the Small House Planning Bureau. St. Cloud, Minn.

● FIREMEN'S FESTIVAL

Next week is the time of the annual summer festival of the Palatine fire department.

Beginning Thursday evening, August 4, the festival will continue through Sunday night at the new carnival grounds on Wood st. just east of the Oak st. school.

These annual festivals of the Palatine fire department have become famous through the years as a great annual community get together and home coming, where the old timers come back and meet old friends and everyone in the community mixes and learns who the other fellow is.

The community spirit of the firefighters has long been a byword in this area, and the many fine things which the fire boys have done for the community with the profits from their festivals is so well known that it needs no great elaboration here.

They built and presented to the village the fire station on Slade st. They have recently acquired more ground for an addition to that fine building.

For years they have purchased equipment for the department, including a modern, up-to-date fire truck.

And not only do they do things for the community along the line of fire fighting, but also they can always be depended upon for a substantial donation to any worthy community cause such as the fund for purchasing a library site, etc.

At their annual festival this year, the firemen plan to repeat all of the features which for years have added to the success of the big celebraiton.

There will be rides of all descriptions for the youngsters and the would-be youngsters. There will be the always popular water fights between the fire departments of neighboring towns. There will be games and amusements for folks of all ages, and there will, of course, be the delicious eats for which the wives of the firemen have become famous.

There will be something doing every minute of the time, and above all, it will be the great community get together and homecoming for the folks of the neighborhood and their friends, all of whom annually show by their attendance at this celebration of the Palatine firemen their appreciaiton for the great job which the firefighters have always done for the residents of this community.

● JUST WHY

Just why the C. & N. W. Ry., when they fixed up those Palatine station platforms, saw fit not to repair the south platform west of Plum Grove ave. is a mystery that only the railroad knows the answer to.

They put fresh crushed stone on the center platform clear up to Plum Grove ave. and repaired other weak spots, but they did nothing to the mud holes of that south platform.

And when it rains that platform surely is a mud hole. Then when it's dry, it's okay.

Maybe the railroad goes on the theory of those "hill billies" who have leaky roofs, "When it rains they can't fix them, and when it's dry, they don't leak."

Maybe commuters should refuse to get off in the mud on a rainy day and make the trainmen pull up to where the footing is sound.

We saw a precedent for that sort of thing the other day when Doc Moore, station agent, refused to load baggage from what he called "the hole" in front of the station and delayed the train until they pulled up so Doc could load from a level platform.

Well, if Doc can get away with that stuff, why can't paying passengers insist that they be unloaded onto a solid platform and not in a mud hole?

● THISTLES

It's thistle time and there are some beautiful patches of Canada thistles blooming around town and also in the country, from some of the reports that have been coming in.

The township has a thistle commissioner, but the budget isn't big enough to allow him to put in much time on the job. He is chiefly investigating complaints that come in and not spending his time nosing around to see where isolated patches might be.

In the village the thistle violation would presumably be under the control of the police, as thistles or noxious weeds are a violation of the village code.

There is going to be a grand seeding of neighboring areas to thistles if those blooming patches are not taken care of awfully fast. It doesn't take one of those pretty blossoms long to become a bunch of flying seeds that can sail around and make a lot of trouble for gardeners.

● LITTLE JOE

Umpires have a tough life in calling the plays at ball games, football games, etc. Nobody loves an umpire, at least not while the heat of a game is on.

There are all kinds of umpires, good, bad and indifferent, and in the course of a season a fan sees them all.

One of those cold nights out at Community park this summer there were two overtime games, one a nine-inning affair, the other a fourteen inning thriller that wound up at 12:10 a. m.

And the umpire who worked and was smiling at the finish was "Little Joe" Brodnan of Arlington Heights, one of the best and squarest umpires that ever donned a mask.

Joe Brodnan, "Little Joe," as he is known, has had a career in athletics that has been marked all the way by hard, fair playing and honesty of purpose.

It was many long, long years ago that Joe was a member of the lightweight basketball team of the Arlington high school.

At that time his clean, fast playing helped to give the team a reputation, and at that time we dubbed that team "the green tornadoes," because of their green uniforms and their terrific speed. That nickname has stuck through the years.

After completing high school, Joe was with the Arlington Red Wings for many years, and his reputation as a clean, hard player continued.

And after his playing days were over, Joe became an umpire and as an umpire he kept up the same splendid record for honesty and fairness that had endeared him to the fans as a player.

Joe is now one of the chief umpires of the Umpires' Protective association, and around this area he is the most popular umpire of them all. As an umpire Joe works just as hard and just as honestly as he did as a player.

He doesn't just stand behind the plate and guess about a play at second base. He's down there seeing what happens.

He is liked by fans and players who know that his decisions are honest and fair—he calls them as he sees them and everyone knows it.

He has few kicks about his decisions, and after a game is over, the players are all his friends.

We heard one park director remark, "I wish Joe would work all of our games."

Joe Brodnan has had a long and honorable career in athletics as a player and as an official, and he's still going strong.

His example can well be taken as a model by the youth of today in shaping their athletic careers.

"Little Joe" has done a lot for clean athletics during his long career as a player and official. We hope to see him continue for a long time to come.

● NEARLY TAX TIME

It's nearly tax time again for those property owners who paid only the first installment of their real estate taxes at the time of the first collection in April.

The second installment of the real estate taxes for 1950 will be due prior to September 1, which is penalty date.

The township collectors, when they mailed out the bilis in the spring, gave notice that their office would be open for the second collection in August.

The township collectors of this area are expected to open their offices Monday, August 6, for the second collection.

All property owners who have not paid their second installment are urged to call on their local collectors whose office will be open until about August 30.

Payments made to the township collectors are passed on to the local taxing bodies considerably faster than if the payments are made in Chicago.

So the taxpayers who make their payments to their local collectors are helping their several taxing units to get some much needed cash for operating expenses and save them the necessity of issuing anticipation warrants with the accompanying payment of interest.

A great many people disregarded the May 1 penalty date on the first installment and had to pay penalty.

September 1 is the penalty date on the second installment, and you can save time and bother by getting your payments to your local collectors on time.

● BOOMING CORN

There are a lot of wonderful cornfields around here this summer, and it surely looks like a bumper crop, although Louis Freise says, "A lot of things can happen between now and harvest time."

Met Louis on the street one morning, and he said, "Come on, I want to show you a good field of corn." So we rode out to Louis' place, and we did see a wonderful corn field for sure.

That was ten days ago, and the corn was about up to our head. The whole field was even and looked the same with its husky growth of dark green leaves and stalks.

"What did you put under this?" we asked Louis, and he grinned and replied, "Fertilizer, but not too much. There are about ten acres in this field, and I only used about 1,500 pounds of fertilizer."

So that little shot of fertilizer surely does help boost the corn crop along all right. There are a lot of the boys who can testify to that.

And there are some wonderful corn fields around this territory. We have seen finer looking fields in Palainte township than in a lot of neighboring areas.

If nothing happens before harvest, it's going to be a great crop.

Louis Freise wouldn't predict the yield, but said, "Come around at harvest time and we'll see what we get."

● REAL SUMMER

We have at last had a few days of real summer.

As Fred Glade said one evening at the Legion-Lions carnival, "The chill is gone for once." And that was about the first evening of the season when the chill had been gone.

And at that it didn't stay gone for very long, but made several return engagements that made some of the evenings pretty chilly to enjoy the outdoors.

But we have had a few wonderful summer days at least, and those days have been appreciated after all the cold damp weather.

The summer days that we have had have been great for the growing crops and gardens, and things are growing in great shape.

Real summer days helped a lot in the haying operations, and the harvesters are busy in those ripe wheat fields with their wide expanse of golden grain.

The warm weather coupled with the moisture in the ground has made late planted gardens put forth a fine growth, and garden crops are coming fine.

People who got their gardens in a month or six weeks late maybe didn't get products as early as those who got them in on time, but they are surely getting them now. Some of the later crops seem to be fast catching up to those that were planted much earlier.

In this locality at least, this has been and is being a bountiful year in the gardens and on the farms. People interested in growing things are having a great season.

● OZARK FORUM

So many folks from around here have been moving to the Ozarks and taking trips down into that country, that maybe we should conduct an Ozark forum for an exchange of information and opinions about that mystic country.

We might put Bill Kehe on the stand for a starter. Bill has made several trips into that country, and can give a vivid picture of the scenery of the area, the beauties of which compare favorably with the Smokies and other noted spots, in Bill's opinion.

Then Harry Schoppe, who has just returned from a trip down there, could tell us about the roads. In Harry's estimation the best thing about that whole country is the roads.

Then another witness could be Tom Norman, who has made many trips into the Ozarks. Tom could talk about investment possibilities.

Tom is known down there as a broker. He comes often and is known to all the brokers. He looks over everything from farms to show houses and lunch rooms, but he never buys anything.

And we might bring Otto Dreyer back to tell about life in the Ozarks. Otto started out on a farm and we hear he is now running a restaurant someplace down there.

As a final witness we could produce Barney Stein, who could lecture on climate. Barney never did like this climaet around here and is moving to the Ozarks to get into a good climate.

With that galaxy of stars anyone should get a pretty good picture of the Ozarks. But after all is said and done, probably the best thing to do would be to go down and see for yourself, since no two persons ever see the same thing alike.

A Novel Wastebasket

DO YOU tire of the same wastebaskets? Here's a design that's different, and you can make this basket, or several baskets. There's very little expense involved, but a lot of enjoyment.

This laced-together basket is a foot square at the top, and 15 inches deep. The sides taper slightly toward the base.

It's made of Masonite tempered Presdwood. Around the sides, about an inch from the floor, nail pieces of three-quarter-inch quarter-round. To these may be nailed the bottom piece of Masonite.

The handholds may be cut with a coping or jig saw. Use a hand drill to make the evenly spaced holes situated one-half inch from the edges of each side. To hold the basket together, lace the holes with leather thongs or other fasteners of your selection.

Wastebaskets made of Presdwood may be left undecorated or they may be painted, enameled, lacquered, varnished or waxed. This material will last indefinitely, and it's splinter-free.

Registrant can appeal claim for deferment

New Selective Service regulations permit a registrant, or his employer if qualified, to appeal a claim for occupational deferment to the appeal board having jurisdiction in the place where the man is employed, instead of to his "home" appeal board which formerly had sole jurisdiction in occupational cases.

Col. Paul G. Armstrong, State Selective Service Director, said that if a man is registered with an Illinois local board but works in a defense plant in Pennsylvania, for example, he can have his case submitted to the appropriate appeal board in Pennsylvania. However, he or any person entitled to do so must request this transfer of appeal in writing at the time notice of appeal is filed with his local board.

Only men seeking deferment on occupational grounds are affected by the new regulations, Col. Armstrong said. This includes industrial workers and farmers whose activities may be considered necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest.

THE FENCE POST

Aids victims

The following is an excerpt from a letter written by Mrs. Vincent J. Iacona, the daughter of Mrs. Bertha J. Hildebrandt, 910 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. She is now living in Manhattan, Kas., about 10 miles from Ft. Riley, where her husband is stationed.

I hope I never live to see again anything like what has happened to this town. You read so much about things like this, but it's the first time I've seen it. This is the worst flood in the history of the nation.

The water was a block down from us. The entire business section of Manhattan is destroyed and will take years to be rebuilt. This place has been a refuge to many people. I even had three people sleeping in my two-room apartment with my daughter, Dianne, because I'm working nights and sleeping days.

My landlady is a practical nurse and I am a registered nurse, so she and I went to the hospital to see if we could help. We work 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. The nun told us this morning to keep comin back until they tell us not to, they are so overcrowded.

Kansas State college is housing lots of people. Every one is taking typhoid shots. Telephone service is cut off. We are getting a lot of food in now from all parts of the country, but it was bad the first day or so. Today was the first mail we had had in a week.

One man staying here said he saw a house where the basement washed away and the whole house crumpled up. Store windows downtown are all broken, the walls caved in. The estimate of damage from the flood is $750 million.

If you know of any one who has old clothes ask them to send them here (1000 Vattier St., Manhattan, Kas.), and I'll give them to the Red Cross. Lots of people got out with only the clothes they were wearing.

Thanks singers

"I wish again to express my thanks to the Friendly Singing club for the lovely time I had at the picnic Sunday. It was really grand of the Arlington Singing club and in accepting my thanks, please accept that of the boys, too. They all had a grand time.

"Monday night we gathered in Ward 6 and talked about the party. A group of the boys, who were not present Sunday, were listening in. When they heard what a grand time was had by all—about the eats and entertainment—they were sorry they hadn't come along.

"I told them that if all went well, you intended having another outing next year. I wish you could have heard them.

"For those of you who do so much for the kids, I do wish you could hear the lovely things that are said. They do appreciate things so much. They are one swell bunch of boys.

"Again many, many thanks from all of us. I hope to see you the 26th on the 20 ramp."

If 65, change work, may have claim coming

Since opening its doors six months ago, the Social Security field office at 5306 W. Lawrence in the Lawrence Lipps Building has handled 2100 claims for old age and survivors insurance benefits and answered 9552 inquiries.

These figures were released by Ellen McGuire, Manager of the local office, which opened last January to serve residents of Northwest Chicago and the suburbs of Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Niles, Lincolnwood and Bartlett.

New or duplicate Social Security account numbers were issued to 3,103 individuals during the same period, Miss McGuire reports. In addition to claims and account number activities, the office contacts employers to correct wage records of individuals omitted from social security tax returns, or who have been reported incorrectly, and provides general information on the old age and survivors insurance program to individuals or groups.

"WE HAVE NO operating problems within the office," Miss McGuire said, "but we are concerned presently about reaching groups of people newly covered under Social Security and those who are now entitled to benefits through the 1950 Amendments."

"There are still too many people past 65 who have worked at least a year and a half under Social Security but who do not realize they are eligible for benefits if they file a claim as soon as they are no longer working in covered employment."

For the convenience of people living in towns Northwest of Chicago, a representative of the office visits the post office at Des Plaines every Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. For telephone inquiries call SPring 7-3413.

About Waterproofing Brick Without Changing Color?

Do you know of a preparation, or a formula for making one, that can be used on exterior brick, particularly on a chimney that absorbs moisture enough to come through a double brick wall after a protracted rain, staining the ceiling? It must not change the color of the brick materially nor leave a shine on the surface.

There are a number of manufacturers who make a product that they recommend for this purpose. The material is practically colorless and waterproofs the surface perfectly. The product to ask for at Webber's is Litholox

Soil scientist will head agronomy

When Dr. W. L. Burlison retires on September 1 as head of the department of agronomy at the University of Illinois, his place will be taken by a young soil scientist from Cornell University.

Dr. M. B. Russell, 37, professor of soil physics at Cornell, has been appointed to head the agronomy work in the College of Agriculture. Dean H. P. Rusk of the college paid tribute to the new head as "one of the really outstanding men in the field of agronomy."

A native of Michigan, Dr. Russell graduated from Michigan State College in 1936. He received his M. S. degree from Iowa State College in 1937 and his Ph.D degree from there in 1939. He served as instructor, assistant professor and associate professor on the Iowa State College agronomy staff from 1939 until 1945, when he went to Cornell.

Economist sees bright side of economic outlook

A generally favorable economic outlook for farmers and others was forecast today by a University of Illinois agricultural economist.

G. L. Jordan says: "Farm incomes are likely to be very satisfactory for this year's crops and also in 1952, but erratic markets can be expected.

"All in all no further large rises can be expected in prices in general in 1951, and probably price rises in 1952 will be quite moderate, barring a general war.

"No serious depression is in the picture. Serious price declines will occur only as a reaction to excessive price rises. Just now we are in the backwash of an excessive speculative rise in prices. We may get just as pessimistic as we were optimistic. In that case prices could drop much more. If that should happen, there would be a substantial recovery.

"Prices of many farm products have declined in sympathy with prices of other goods and because of prospective large output."

Jordan expects that industry will continue to borrow more money for defense purposes, but loans for other purposes will decline. Government buying will increase but will be financed largely out of taxes in 1951 and hence will not be inflationary. But if the government expands its borrowing from commercial and federal reserve banks in 1952, that will be inflationary.

However, in this and other countries, anti-inflation measures are being adopted. Our government is definitely trying to pay most defense costs from taxes and to check credit expansion.

Take precautions to avoid suits from spraying

A University of Illinois farm lawyer suggested three ways of cutting down your risks from crop-spraying damage suits.

H. W. Hannah says first to take extra care in mixing and applying chemicals to crops to control insects. Second, insist that anyone you hire to do the job also be extra-careful and that he carry liability insurance for your protection. Third, get a waiver of liability, if possible, from your neighbors.

The farm legal authority says you may very well give your neighbors a waiver in return if they want to spray or dust. A mutual waiver means that both you and your neighbor agree not to sue each other if you both put on chemicals and either has damaged crops later.

HANNAH URGES these safety measures against damage suits because the law is not clear in Illinois as to who pays any damages that may arise from crop-spraying operations. If a farmer contracts with an airplane operator to apply a spray or dust, it seems the airplane man would be liable. But if a farmer does the spraying himself, he is very likely liable for any damages. This is the case even though he may not have been negligent in mixing or applying the material.

However, a Texas court decided that the farmer himself was liable for damage from airplane dusting, even though the farmer did not apply the dust. This decision might be followed in other states.

European corn borer service bulletin

This is the ninth of a series of weekly bulletins on corn borer development, seasonal progress, and control recommendations prepared by entomologists of the Illinois Natural History Survey and cooperating agencies.

General Observations. We are still between generations in the northern half of the state, but we are moving into the second generation in the south. In southern Illinois many pupae are present in early sweet corn and a few moths have emerged; also, pupation has started in field corn.

In northern Illinois a few eggs are still being laid in and around Cook county but elsewhere egg laying is over. No pupae have appeared in field corn in central Illinois, but pupae can be found in early sweet corn as far north as Rock Island and Wichert. Borers are mostly in the third and fourth stages, with only 5 to 10 per cent in the fifth stage, at Rochelle.

No treatment is recommended at this time but market gardeners in the St. Louis and other southern areas should begin to watch for eggs.

In general the infestation in early field corn is light but is somewhat higher than we might have expected from the very light moth flight. If conditions during the next month are favorable we may expect a fair to large second generation in late corn.

Corn earworms are maturing in larger numbers than expected in early market corn and may cause trouble in late sweet corn next month.

Off to Sea Shore? Not Farmers; But They Can Stay Cool At Home

By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

Few of us can go to the seashore or mountains to escape hot weather. On farms, particularly, there's work to be done—much of it when temperatures are high enough to "make the corn pop." Fact is, we better have hot weather or there won't be any corn.

In selecting your fans, be certain they are designed for the purposes

KITCHEN VENTILATING FAN—removes cooking odors quickly, easily.

There's nothing we can do to cool off outside temperatures. We can make a stand, however, in the home where electric fans give us an edge over the broiling sun. Modern fans are a far cry from the first motor-operated variety of 1870. Today, they are scientifically designed to meet all home air circulating problems. Also, practical information is available on where and how fans should be placed and used for best results.

Most electric fans are portable. Some are built in. But all serve specific purposes. Desk-bracket fans—the best known and most commonly used—are placed on floors, desks or tables. The majority can be attached to a wall, as well. Many have motors which can be tilted up or down to direct the air flow. Pedestal fans differ from desk-bracket fans only in the type of base on which the motor is mounted. Floor fans are mounted in sturdy frames resembling stools. Their motors are in fixed positions so that air is circulated upward and outward. Kitchen ventilating fans are designed to force air (along with cooking odors) out of the room. They may be permanently installed or portable, and are useful, too, in bathrooms, recreation rooms, basements and laundries.

intended and are large enough to ventilate properly the room or rooms desired.

For daytime cooling on hot days, keep windows and doors closed when a fan is operating; direct the fan toward the wall so that air will bound back and set up air currents. It's the lack of air circulation, not a closed-up house, that makes the rooms feel stuffy, scientists tell us.

At night, electric fans will exchange warm inside air for cooler outside air. Guesswork has been removed from this job through long and careful research. Accurate information on nighttime, as well as more details on daytime, cooling operations is available from most electric fan manufacturers. So, take heart when summer heat gets you down. Instead of complaining about hot weather, relax and let your fan "fan the breeze" for you.

Summer top season for bluecomb ills

Hot, humid days should remind you to watch your poultry for signs of bluecomb disease, warns a University of Illinois veterinarian.

Dr. J. O. Alberts says both turkeys and chickens five to seven months old are susceptible. Losses average about 5 per cent, but may run as high as 50 per cent.

In acute outbreaks, most of the flock gets sick. The birds are feverish, the comb and wattles turn blue-purple, diarrhea usually develops and the skin on the legs appears shriveled. Chronic bluecomb may affect birds for 2 to 3 months. Some flocks stop laying for a few weeks. A severe attack may cause a complete moult.

YOU SHOULD suspect bluecomb disease at the first sign of a rapid drop in feed consumption. Supply plenty of shade, ventilation and cool water to affected birds. Stop feeding grain for 3 to 4 days or until the birds are hungry. Molasses (15 per cent) in the mash or in the water (3 tablespoons per gallon) may help. Or you can add one tablespoon of potassium chloride per gallon of water.

Outbreaks often follow 3 to 4 days after periods of high temperature and high humidity. There is no proof that feeding new grain causes the disease; many outbreaks have occurred where new grain was not being fed.

Other legumes besides Ladino cause bloat

A University of Illinois agronomist says not to blame Ladino clover for every loss of livestock from bloat.

Pasture specialist J. C. Hackleman explains that farm advisers in northern and central Illinois, without exception, report losses from other legumes too. In a survey of that area, Hackleman says farm advisers told him of losses of cattle grazing on alfalfa, red clover and other legumes. He adds that one steer even bloated on straw in drylot.

Hackleman says it's a problem of getting along with Ladino and using it as much as you can with the lowest possible losses. Jack Hampton, University sheep herdsman, thinks Ladino is the finest sheep pasture there is, and he is using more of it.

Here are some steps to help reduce chances of bloat:

Give livestock a generous feed before turning them onto pasture in the morning.

Keep dry straw or hay in a rack out on pasture.

Leave the livestock on legume pasture continuously, once they have been turned onto it.

For high-producing dairy cows, feed a little grain.

ACP stimulates conservation

Often overlooked in reports of accomplishments under the agricultural conservation program are the additional conservation measures stimulated by ACP assistance, says Carl M. Bormet, chairman of the Cook county PMA committee.

In many instances, according to Mr. Bormet, the conservation practices for which a farmer receives assistance under ACP are but a small part of the total amount of conservation work completed. But the incentive to do this additional work often is traceable to the assistance provided under the agricultural conservation program.

Program assistance, the chairman explains, covers only part of the cost of the conservation practices which are approved for aid under the program. In general, this is about 50 percent of the out-of-pocket cost. The farmer stands the additional cost and in most cases all the labor and transportation expenses. Where materials or services are furnished they are provided on the same share-the-cost basis.

FURTHERMORE, the county PMA committee must limit ACP conservation practices to the funds allocated to the county. Where the applications for assistance exceed the county allocation—the amount of assistance to each farmer is scaled down to keep the total within the allotment. The objective, of course, is to use the available funds to obtain the maximum amount of conservation for each dollar allocated.

Many farmers, he explains, carry out much additional conservation work for which they receive no assistance. The small amount of assistance is the stimulant which sets off the chain reaction.

All of this conservation work stimulated by ACP assistance adds up to a tremendous total and accounts for much of the lasting progress that is being made, says the chairman. In his opinion this is the accurate yardstick for measuring Agricultural Conservation Program accomplishments and the vital element which makes this United States effort both unique an dsuccessful.

Lessons In .... English

Words often misused

Do not say, "Robert chanced in yesterday." It is better to say, "Robert happened to call yesterday."

Do not say, "It seems funny that he would do such a thing." Say, "It seems queer (or, unusual) that he would do such a thing."

In good usuage, "Each other" applies to two only; "one another" applies to more than two. "The twins resemble each other." "The students competed with one another."

Do not say, "He is in a bad fix." It is better to say, "He is in a bad condition."

Do not say, "She was very pleased with the results." Say, "She was very much pleased."

Do not say, "Bob is equally as handsome as his brother." Omit equally.

Words often mispronounced

Extricable. Accent first syllable, not the second.

Hoof. Pronounce the oo as in too, not as in book.

Beneficent. Pronounce be-nef-i-sent, first e as in be unstressed, second e as in set, accent second syllable.

Decade. Pronounce dek-ad, e as in deck, a as in aid, accent first syllable.

Christening. Pronounce kris-n'-ing; the t is silent.

Digestion. Pronounce the first i as in did, not as in die.

Words often misspelled

Oar (rowing implement); or (conjunction); ore (metal).

Assassin; four s's. Gentile, ile; genteel, eel; gentle, tle.

Timber (wood); timbre (quality of tone). Laboratory; not labratory.

Numskull; not numbskull.

Word study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Fantastic; imaginary; illusory. "His was a fantastic tale of adventure."

Impassioned; moved to a strong feeling; ardent. "His impassioned words brought tears to her eyes."

Regenerate (verb); to produce anew; to give new life, strength, or vigor to. "One new idea may regenerate a man."

Onerous; burd...some; oppressive; troublesome. "The man has for some time been trying to pay this onerous debt."

Literally; with close adherence to words; word by word. "It is difficult to translate literally some poets' writings."

Verifiable; capable of being proved to be true. "We want verifiable facts."

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is anything written on the inner envelope enclosing a wedding invittation?

A. Yes; just the addressee's name is on this envelope, as, "Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lake." This envelope is not sealed, but is placed within the outer envelope, which is then sealed and fully addressed.

Q. Which is considered the head of the dinner table?

A. The head of the table is wherever the hostess sits. In other words, the wife is the head of the table, though the man is head of the house.

Q. Is it proper for a man to continue adding "Jr." to his name after the death of his senior?

A. No; in the same way, it is improper to continue calling a boy John Smith 3rd, if either John Smith, or John Smith, Jr., has died.

Q. I was recently widowed and a friend told me I am supposed either to discard my wedding ring or wear it on my right hand. What is correct?

A. You don't have to do either of these! You may continue to wear your wedding-ring for as long as you wish.

Q. Is it considered proper to address an envelope to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Family?

A. Where there are children in the family, it is best to address the envelope to Mr. and Mrs., and then on the card or in the letter, write "Love to the children, too."

Q. When are plates removed from the dinner table for ensuing courses?

A. The plates for each course are not removed until the slowest eater has finished and laid down his fork.

Q. What do you think about women going hatless?

A. Despite the continued practice of younger women to go hatless on all occasions, best taste still requires that in town a hat be worn with street clothes in the daytime — especially in church. With an evening dress, a hat is incorrect.

Q. How far in advance of the wedding may gifts be sent to the bride?

A. Usually ten days or two weeks before the day of the wedding. This will give the bride ample time to acknowledge them.

Q. Is it permissible to use both the knife and fork when eating fish?

A. Usually the fork is the only implement necessary.

Q. When writing a letter or note to a brother and sister, may one address the envelope "Miss Mary Morgan and brother?"

A. Never. The envelope should be addressed either to the sister or the brother, never to both.

TAX FACTS

By George Mahin, Executive Secretary, Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

The corporate authorities of every city, village and incorporated town in Illinois except Chicago must, under House Bill 650 as enacted, adopt ordinances by not later than December 31 of this year fixing the maximum permissible tax rate limitation for each of the municipality's funds that the county clerk may use thereafter in computing tax bills. A separate ordinance must be adopted for each fund. There is no tax rate limitation on taxes levied to retire bonds.

If an ordinance establishes a tax rate limit for a fund that is not greater than the tax rate limit in effect for the fund as of the date of the adoption of the ordinance, then the tax rate limit adopted for that fund goes into effect immediately. A copy of such ordinance must be certified to the county clerk within 20 days after adoption.

WITH RESPECT to the corporate fund of cities, villages and incorporated towns, the corporate authorities may by a 2/3 vote establish a maximum tax rate limit by ordinance which is not more than 10% higher than the tax rate limit in effect for the corporate fund as of the date of adoption of the ordinance. For example, if the tax rate limit for the corporate fund of a city at the date of the adoption of the ordinance was 20c per $100 of assessed valuation, the corporate authorities could establish a tax rate limit of 22c for that particular fund. The people of the city may force a referendum on the proposed increase by filing a petition with the clerk of the city, village or incorporated town on or before the last day of February, 1952. Such a petition requesting a referendum must be signed by not fewer than 5% of the eligible voters, or not fewer than 1000 eligible voters, whichever is less. If no petition is filed, the increased rate becomes effective March 1, 1952.

In the event that such a petition is filed, then the corporate authorities of the municipality must, at an election on or before the last day of May, 1952, submit to the voters the following two propositions: (1) the establishment of the maximum tax rate for the corporate fund of the municipality at the higher rate limit proposed by the corporate authorities; (2) the establishment of the maximum tax rate for the corporate fund of the municipality at the limit in effect for that fund on the date of the adoption of the ordinance. The proposition which receives the higher number of votes at the election becomes the maximum tax rate for the corporate fund of the municipality, and takes effect with the levy next following the election.

If THE CORPORATE authorities of the municipality want an increase in the corporate fund of more than 10% above the tax rate limit in effect, or any rate increase at all for any of its other tax funds, then the proposed increase must be submitted to the people at an election to be held on or before the last day of May, 1952. At such election, the people will similarly choose between the rate limit in effect for the fund at the time of the adoption of the ordinance and the higher rate limit proposed by the corporate authorities.

Any ordinance involving an increased rate must be certified to the county clerk by January 31, 1952. It must also be published, at least 20 days before the election, and must set forth in the notice the propositions to be voted upon.

In no event can a present rate limit be increased to more than 40% of the maximum permissible rate limit authorized by law in 1945. For example, the top tax rate authorized by law in 1945 for city corporate purposes was 87½c per $100. 40% of that is 35c. Accordingly, no city corporate fund tax rate can be increased to more than 35c per $100 of value. If the present rate limit is higher than that figure, it can be retained however simply by adopting an ordinance. Any city, village or incorporated town created after July 9, the effective date of H. B. 650, will have maximum permissible tax rates for its various funds equal to 40% of the maximum legal rates in 1945.

If any municipality fails to act by this December 31, its prersent tax rate limits will continue in effect until changed up or down by referendum. Much more serious, there will be serious danger of tax protests which will tie up city funds.

Get the Lead Out!

Turkey's most important lead operation was formerly at northwest Balya, between the inland city of Balikesir and the Dardanelles Strait, where extensive deposits were worked by French interests. The mines were closed down, however, some time ago, because of high costs and transportation problems. At present, the government's Eti Bank, the agency responsible for developing Turkey's mineral resources, is pushing two lead projects—the Bolkardag mine, and the Keban mine, the latter in the east-central part of the country. In 1948, new processing and power plants were completed at Keban.

'Modern' features veneers

Modern furniture is gaining in public acceptance.

A key factor in the growing popularity of modern styling is the designer's freedom from traditional restriction as to shape, ornamentation and type of wood used. Satisfied that his creation is of good design—that is to say, marketable—he may give his imagination full reign.

This means that the designer can use the many beautiful hardwood veneers in any shape, wood pattern or color he chooses — including woods which might not be suitable for some period styles. The result is a wider range of styles, including many new and novel designs, featuring veneer treatment in which accent is given to the beauty of the wood.

Unusual and distinctive wood patterns are achieved through veneer matching, an art which has been perfected to the point where the designer may obtain almost any effect desired.

Shade tree neglect often cause of poorly lit streets

Beautiful street trees so lovely to behold during the day may be in league with death and crime at night.

Lush foliage that obscures traffic and street lights and reaches low over thoroughfares and sidewalks is a major factor in causing tragic accidents and aiding and abetting the footpad. So says Martin L. Davey Jr., head of the Davey tree experts, who points out proper pruning of street trees has more than an aesthetic function in the community.

While inadequate street lighting often is a matter of insufficient wattage or insufficient lights, quite frequently the problem is simply improper tree maintenance, Mr. Davey points out. In Kent, Ohio, where his company has its headquarters, the shade tree commission has recognized this grave municipal responsibility. Rules governing the care and maintenance of street trees are in effect to assure motorist, pedestrian and resident the maximum in protection.

Requirements are such that shade trees are trimmed to assure traffic light visibility for one block in all directions. Also, all trees are pruned not only to facilitate maximum street lighting, but to assure adequate clearance for vehicles on streets and pedestrians on sidewalks.

Exterior Enamel Durable

Exterior enamel, which has great durability, has spar varnish as its base. It is used for porch floors, decks, boats and other exterior work, such as outdoor furniture, automobiles, farm implements and machinery. The type used for implements and machinery is known as implement paint or enamel.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Wiggle Worm

Sparkling brown eyes and dark brown hair complement the happy expression on this little girl's face. Linda Sue Dieball is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dieball of 113 W. Eastman st., Arlington Heights. She will be 4 years old next month.

"Linda never sits down for a minute," remarked Mrs. Dieball. "I even think she is moving in her sleep." Glenn, this youngster's 10 month old brother, is a constant source of admiration. She is also fond of her dog, Skippy.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Csepp of 11 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, are the maternal grandparents and Mrs. Arthur Dieball, 414 N Evergreen, Arlington Heights, is the paternal grandparent.

Skipper

This is the nickname of Vincent Faraone, 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Faraone, 413 N. Wille st., Mt. Prospect.

Skipper is a "regular" fellow, red hair, brown eyes, lots of freckles and bushels of pep. He has an interesting baby sister, Kathy, who is 8 months old and a new puppy, Bucky. Sports are his main activity, especially baseball at the present.

"We recently returned from a trip to the Smokey mountains and New York," said Mrs. Faraone. "Skipper thought throwing rocks in the mountain streams great fun and enjoyed the whole trip."

Bright eyes

The last of today's trio of the younger set is smiling blonde and blue- eyed Marjorie Engelking, 5½ year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Engelking of 218 S. Highland av., Arlington Heights.

Marjorie is the sociable type of little girl, loves to play with any other child. She is always out of doors if the weather permits. She has a little kitten to play with and is looking forward to entering the Lutheran school kindergarten next fall.

Shirley, 15, a junior at the Arlington Heights township high school and Roger, 13, in the eighth grade at the Lutheran school complete the Engelking family. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moehling of Des Plaines are their maternal grandparents.

Premium waivers best bet for vets back into service

Veterans of World War II reentering active military service were cautioned by the Illinois Veterans Commission not to be "tempted" in dropping their National Service Life Insurance in favor of the new "free" insurance.

Various alternative courses are being offered to veterans going back into the armed forces but the soundest is the "premium waiver privilege" on NSLI.

Under the premium waiver privilege a veteran may retain his National Service Life Insurance and have all or part of the premiums waived depending on the type of policy. If it is a term policy and should expire while in service it will be automatically renewed.

UNDER THE NEW free $10,000 coverage under the insurance act a veteran does not have all the advantages of standard NSLI. As an example he has a limited choice of beneficiaries and there are certain restrictions that do not apply to NSLI.

Information about service insurance can be obtained from service officers of the Illinois Veterans Commission and they should be consulted where a doubt exists about benefits.

In this area the IVC service officer can be contacted at 164 N. Marion ave. in Oak Park or at 213 Liberty building, Wheaton.

To give Benjamin time to stop soot

Mayor Kenneth Meyer of Des Plaines advised the city council to allow Benjamin Electric company time to improve and correct its boilers which nearby residents claim throw soot and fly ash on their homes and yards when Benjamin burns coal.

Hoyt Steele, Benjamin vice president, indicated a comprehensive engineering report on what can be done to correct the condition will be available by November of this year.
